ANNUAL REPORT

Of Selectmen and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1951

We, the Selectmen of the Town of Sanford herewith submit to you, the citizens of Sanford, our annual report for the year 1951. We also wish to take this opportunity to express our satisfaction with the fine cooperation we have enjoyed this past year from the various departments, and from the citizens of Sanford, who have contributed so much of their time and effort towards making the year 1951 a successful one.

Of the utmost importance to the people of Sanford and to this office, is the revaluation of all property, both personal and real, by an outside firm of appraisers that has been in progress for the past eight months. This appraisal will be finished and the results will be used to make up the 1952 tax bills. The purpose of this appraisal is to assess all property within the town equally and without discrimination, and to apportion the cost of government among all property owners on the basis of the value of their property.

In connection with the revaluation of property in the town, the mapping program that has been in progress for the past few years under the direction of our engineering department has proved invaluable. Several parcels of land that have not been in taxation were discovered when property cards were compared with sections of this map. With the completion of this project early in 1952, the town will have filled a long-felt need, and the availability of these maps to the citizens of Sanford will prove to be of great value for years to come.

The relief situation in the town for the past year has been such that a substantial reduction was made in appropriations for the year 1952. We hope to be able to fill the needs of this department within this appropriation, and if employment remains at its present level, we see no reason why this would not be possible.

With the reactivation of the Naval Air Facility at South Sanford expected early in 1952, and the construction of a new air base at nearby Portsmouth, the unemployment situation in Sanford should be erased.

This pleasant picture is marred somewhat by the prospect of the local mills being forced to curtail their operations in Sanford. The textile industry all over New England is in a state of unrest, and we in Sanford cannot hope to escape some of the same problems that have beset other communities with like industries. We sincerely hope for the common good of every citizen in this town that the situation can be ironed out to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

In conclusion, the Selectmen wish each and every citizen of Sanford a happy and prosperous New Year. With your continued support and cooperation we will face the new year and its problems with confidence, and bring the year 1952 to a successful conclusion for every citizen of Sanford.

THOMAS MEUNIER,
ARTHUR CARIGNAN
MAURICE J. MAURICE,

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF THE BOARD OF ENGINEERS OF
THE SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Town of Sanford

The engineers of the Sanford Fire Department render the following report for the year 1951. The year was very successful as to the losses. We regret to report the loss of one life, that of five-year-old David Huard, on the New Dam Road. It is instances like this that grieves your Fire Department personnel.

We have made a study of fire losses of our town and neighboring towns and cities. We are pleased to report to you a 2¾% loss to property endangered over the last ten years. The losses consist of both the Sanford and Springvale Fire Department. Our neighboring cities of comparable size over these same years have lost from 9% to 12% of their endangered property.

We assure you that these figures prove the efficiency of both your fire departments.

Your equipment is in excellent condition except for the 1922 Fox Pumper which is to be replaced in 1952. This was a very important decision made by the town meeting members.

On retiring from office as chief, Curtis Allen, your ex-chief, wishes to thank all members of the municipal government who helped to make his 11 years as chief very successful. Also to the citizens of the Town of Sanford go his sincere and heart felt thanks for their wonderful cooperation with him and the department during his tenure of office. He urges the same fine cooperation be extended to his successor, Chief Harold Clark, for with this type of cooperation Chief Clark and your department can never fail to do an excellent job.

We wish to thank the Highway Department, Police Department and the Springvale Fire Department for the excellent cooperation during the past year, and to assure every department in the town government that the Fire Department is always ready to cooperate 100% to make for a better and more efficient government.

Sincerely submitted,

CURTIS S. ALLEN, Chief
HAROLD W. CLARK, 2nd Asst.
CHARLES C. CHADBOURNE, 1st Asst.

THE SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

January 29, 1952

Board of Selectmen
Town Hall
Sanford, Maine

To the Board of Selectmen:

The Board of Engineers of the Springvale Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1951:

We have responded to 134 alarms and have had 800 inspections for the year.

The fire loss was larger than last year, chiefly because the property involved was not covered by insurance.

In the near future we hope to install a new circuit to our fire alarm system to make it more efficient.

We are proud of our Civilian Defense Auxiliary. They have been very faithful to the drills and meetings in the past year, and we are confident that they could take part in any emergency that might arise.

This year the fires have been kept down to a minimum due to the rainy seasons.

The station and equipment are in excellent condition.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the Selectmen, Sanford Fire Department, Police Department and Highway Department for their cooperation during the past year.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY MARSHALL, Chief
HARLAND MOULTON, Assistant
CHARLES A. WINSLOW, Assistant

REPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

To the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit my report of the activities of the Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency:

The Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency was organized under the directorship of General Paul S. Emery August, 1950. Under his leadership, the groundwork was laid for a very competent organization. Because of illness, General Emery requested a leave of absence in March, 1951, and Clarence E. Hartley was appointed to fill in until September 1, 1951.

March 15, 1951, the above agency opened its office in the Springvale Town Hall, where it has held all of its meetings and other business since that date.

May 22, 1951, the Sanford Civil Defense participated in a state "yellow" alert. This alert was for the key personnel only.

June 18, 1951, Sanford held its first town-wide alert. This alert was for public information and we pressed into service the Communications, Fire and Police Services.

August 22, 1951 the second alert was called, embracing Communications, Fire, Police, Rescue and Public Information Divisions.

October 7, 1951 we held an all-out alert for all divisions.

November 11, 1951 Sanford sent Fire Services to the Saco alert, and held all other divisions on a stand-by basis. This alert was a trial of our mutual aid to other communities.

During the year we have alerted other towns for their alerts and furnished Fire and Police Services to them.

Sanford stands at the top in Civil Defense and Public Safety and we intend to stay there.

We extend our appreciation to all residents of the Township of Sanford for their help and cooperation in the many details and problems of Civil Defense and Public Safety.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE E. HARTLEY,
Director of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety

NURSING REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION, INC.

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The directors of the Community Health Association, Inc., have conducted a nursing program planned to reduce the incidence of disease and to give care to the sick in their homes.

Financial means to support this program in Sanford was received from a town appropriation; fees received from service; and from gifts donated by individuals. The Health Camp, a summer project, was financed by an allotment from the Sanford-Springvale Community Fund drive.

The nurses employed by the directors to carry on the program were ones adapted to home visiting—sympathetic to and alert for family problems and physical needs of the individual. The nurses' office is in the Trust Company Building and office hours are 8-9 A. M., and 4-5 P. M. An arrangement has been made with the H. D. Goodall Hospital where calls for the nurses can be left, if our office is closed. The directors met monthly to discuss progress of the work, to become familiar with the program, and to offer suggestions.

In all cases where bed-side nursing was given by our nurses, specific orders for such were left by the attending physician.

One of the most time consuming programs in our work has been the one to reduce the incidence of tuberculosis. Arrangements for sanatorium care, X-ray and physical examinations for contacts and post-sanatorium patients, home visiting for health education and bed-side nursing has comprised this branch of the work.

A cancer detection and care program included lectures for public education, bed-side nursing for dressings, injections, general care, and mental hygiene therapy for patient and family.

Work with well-babies and pre-school children was carried on. Home visits were made to parents of these children for health instruction in child care. Clinics were held monthly for immunization against small-pox, whooping cough, tetanus, and diphtheria.

A nursing program as advised by the State Department of Health for the control of spread of venereal disease was conducted in the community.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

The maternity program consisted of home visits to pre-natal patients and care to mothers and babies after delivery.

Material assistance was given as needed in families having a problem due to illness. Assistance was given to families where there was need for guidance for arranging care for some particular physical or mental disorder.

The Sanford Health Camp, conducted for a seven-week period, gave care to a selected group of children.

In conclusion, our program has been one wherein we consider the personal and environmental needs of the individual in the community with our level of service regulated by facilities, income, and personnel available for the work.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. KENNETH J. KORNETSKY,
President
Community Health Association, Inc.

REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1951

To the Selectmen, Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

As Health Officer of the Town of Sanford from January 1, 1951 to January 1, 1952, I herewith submit a report of health activities during the current year.

There were no serious epidemics of contagious diseases in Sanford during the year. We were particularly fortunate here and in the rest of the state in having so slight a touch of the severe poliomyelitis epidemic which struck New England last spring and summer. There was the usual number of measles, chicken pox, and pertussis, with a probably larger number left unreported. Let me stress once more the importance of reporting contagious diseases. Failure to do this renders it difficult to control them.

Physical examinations, smallpox vaccinations, and inoculations against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus were given children in the public and parochial schools of Sanford and Springvale. Parents were notified of defects and diseases suspected or found, and advised to procure medical aid for their children.

This year, once again, the clinic held at the Congregational Church for the vaccination and inoculation of pre-school children was notably well-attended. Mothers evidently appreciate the convenience and economy of the clinic, held the third Thursday of every month.

Welfare and old age assistance recipients were given medical and surgical care, i.e. office calls, house calls to the Town Farm, homes of patients, and convalescent homes in Sanford, Springvale, Lebanon, Acton, and Shapleigh. Wards of the state were also treated as the need arose.

Nuisances and infractions of sanitary and plumbing laws were investigated as complaints were received. These were dealt with forthwith or brought to the attention of the proper authorities.

In conclusion I wish to express my sincere thanks to the welfare and community health nurses for their help and co-operation during the year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.

Health Officer

Town of Sanford, Maine

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The activities of the Park Commission during the year 1951 have been varied, the progress and development very gratifying.

Forty-five 8-10 foot nursery grown shade trees were set out in various sections of the town and ninety-five trees, set out in previous years, were fed. Spraying and pruning of trees have been on a limited basis this year.

The south section of Gowen Park on Main Street was landscaped to conform with existing areas.

A base section of the William O. Emery Drive has been completed at the south entrance. The necessary landscaping of this section should be completed in 1952.

The attendance at the playgrounds this year was 14,009. Greater activities are planned for the coming year.

The Park Commission has cooperated closely with the Stadium Committee in the development of the new athletic field at the rear of the Memorial Gymnasium.

The Park Commission extends its appreciation to all those who have so faithfully cared for and protected the young trees and shrubs that have been planted.

"Through your Park Commission a more beautiful Sanford."

Respectfully submitted,

F. EVERETT NUTTER, Chairman

ROLAND LANGLOIS

RAYMOND Y. LORD, Secretary

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Citizens of Sanford:

Much has been written and said during the past few years about encouraging a broader and more active public interest in the public schools. During the past year your school committee has made every effort to stimulate your interest and thinking in the problems confronting public education in Sanford and at the same time tried to coordinate their own thinking on goals of public education.

The committee, on several occasions, took the time to discuss the broader aspects of the entire educational program and, in general, concluded that the goal of our public schools should be to make the best in education available to every child in our public schools on completely even terms and within the ability of the town to support financially. It was also agreed that public school education should be constantly appraised and kept responsive both to our educational traditions and to the changing times.

As part of its efforts to encourage a broader and active public interest in the public schools, the committee approved of a conducted tour of all public school buildings in Sanford and Springvale in order to acquaint the public with the conditions of public school property, the repairs made during the summer, the equipment added in our buildings, and the work and equipment that is still necessary if our schools are to be brought up to acceptable standards.

The tour was made early in September and the committee was pleased to have present the local Selectmen, and other public officials, together with representatives of the local Parent-Teacher Associations and several other interested taxpayers. The group visited every classroom in the various schools and saw the repairs completed by local janitors and a crew of men under the supervision of Mr. Earle Gorrie. In each building, the group found at least one room equipped with new furniture, new fluorescent lights, new green chalkboards with the room painted in pastel shades. They also had an opportunity of visiting the new cafeterias at the Hamlin and Lincoln Schools. By the time the group reached the Edison School, at 12:30, they all had a much better idea of the condition of their schools and had more substantial information on which to appraise the work of the school committee and had first hand knowledge on how their money was being spent at the local level.

EDUCATION

The committee approved of a brochure "The School and the Community," published during American Education Week. The theme, "The quality of living in a community should improve because of the presence of the school which the community supports," sums up the attitude of committee members and the pamphlet was another effort to acquaint the public with activities in the Sanford Schools.

To carry out our basic purpose, "increasing public understanding of our public schools," the committee has urged local taxpayers with a problem to attend school committee meetings—has released all information on action taken by the committee to local newspapers—has approved of the school superintendent reporting to local organizations on the conditions in our schools and urged all local citizens to visit our schools regularly.

The concern of a community for its children and youth, their growth and development, with all that a broadly conceived program of education implies, should not be satisfied merely by the election of a school committee member or by the employment of a teacher. The community must sense and be aware of the mental, moral, physical and spiritual potential of each individual child. All civic groups, patrons and parents, should recognize the importance of good teachings and well-equipped schools. Every citizen must understand that better schools make better communities.

The committee would like to take this opportunity to thank Town Meeting Members for raising $25,000 at their December meeting for the completion of the basement of the Memorial Gymnasium.

Supervision and control of the Memorial Gymnasium was voted at Town Meeting in 1946 to be a direct responsibility of your Superintending School Committee.

The $25,000 will be used to complete the basement area, provide team rooms to be used in conjunction with the Sanford Stadium and the physical education program at Sanford High School; a cafeteria to be used daily by Sanford High School and available to the general public and community organizations for all special occasions; a band room, athletic offices, concession area, practice stage, storage rooms, public toilets, and a large lounge area.

The School Committee would like to emphasize that while the gymnasium is used daily in conjunction with the educational program of Sanford High School the building is available to all community organizations.

A start has been made by the Committee this year in acquainting the public with our school problems and, in looking forward to 1952, it is our desire to help you realize how important our public schools are to our expanding democracy and to arouse in Sanford the intelligence and will to improve our public schools.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1951 fiscal year, it is a pleasure to report on the status of our public school system in Sanford.

In 1951, I reported to you on curriculum development, school maintenance and school finance. In this report, I would like to first look at our school program and then report to you on major changes made in our school system during 1951.

A broad and balanced school program, as found in our Sanford schools, includes far more than "book learning." It cultivates wholesome personal relationships in school, home, and community. It helps children to establish such basic facts as courtesy, cooperation, friendliness and respect for the rights of others. It guides children toward their place in the world of work, helping them to select and prepare for useful vocations and to become intelligent consumers as well as producers of goods.

It develops good citizenship and loyalty to democratic ideals. It promotes physical fitness and includes adequate provision for wholesome recreation. This broad and balanced program is being achieved in our daily school program and a well rounded individual student will be the result of this carefully planned and supervised program.

All public school personnel is aware of the need for relating the child and his activities to our community. A brochure distributed during American Education Week illustrated how the school was making our community into a classroom where students could translate school activities into community experience. I believe that our schools should help children to discover what is important in their immediate environment, to understand and to be concerned about community problems, and to realize how they can help to build a better community. Good schools, in a very real sense, are of the community, by the community and for the community.

The schools of Sanford are wholesome places for learning and growth. A real effort is being made to make each classroom safe, comfortable, clean and attractive. Our school custodians are now doing an excellent job and I am beginning to see the type of school cleanliness that meets the high standards I have set for the schools of Sanford. This goal has been achieved by carefully selecting our school custodians and retaining only those who maintain high standards and by providing our custodians with the supplies and equipment needed to do a first class job. A school for our custodians was again sponsored by our School Committee and results indicate the value of the program.

Of course, the most important part of any school system is the classroom teacher. Here in Sanford we are fortunate in having not only competent instructors, but equally important, to have mature and cultured persons who understand children. If our teachers are to conduct classes efficiently it is necessary for them to have suitable equipment and supplies. In order to make sure that our teachers have the proper tools, the following changes have been made:

1. Monthly reports—provides each teacher with the opportunity of ordering supplies on a monthly basis.
2. Audio-visual directors—Mr. James Bannon works directly with each elementary teacher and Mrs. Estella Clarke with each secondary teacher. A monthly bulletin is published listing films and film strips available. Each school is equipped with a 16 MM projector, a film strip projector and an opaque projector.
3. Textbook Committees—this committee is at work and will soon select a new series of history and geography books for grades 5, 6, 7, and 8. The committee is made up of classroom teachers and they carefully review the texts submitted by leading textbook publishers. At the present time, adoptions have been made in Reading and in English.

The value which a community sets on its schools may be judged, in part, by the salaries paid to the teaching staff. The responsibility of the individual teacher is a heavy one. If there is any one individual more than another, outside of the home, on whom the continuity or permanence of our American heritage depends it is the public-school teacher. A community has a right to teachers of character, of skill, of inspiration, whose vision projects the classroom activities of the day into the larger responsibilities of tomorrow and who senses the importance of each individual child. The educational need is vital, the personnel should be vital. Here in Sanford, as in all communities, parents desire the best teaching service in the schools which their children attend. Citizens and civic groups take pride in our schools and boast of them as one of the greatest assets of our community. All citizens recognize the importance of good teaching and good teachers in the making of good schools. Teaching is a profession. Good teaching service, like other good professional services, is purchasable. In an effort to keep our teachers in Sanford, the School Committee has tried to maintain a salary schedule that was within the means of the local taxpayer and in line with what other communities in Maine were doing for their teachers. The salary schedule was revised in 1951 and new maximums established—the complete schedule is listed below:

Experienced teachers throughout our country are saying that today's children present new problems that add to the teaching load. There is still a sound core of well adjusted, well reared children in our Sanford schools, but the cumulative effects of broken homes, the tensions of war, family transiency, lack of parental control, and the overstimulation of moving pictures, radio and television are being felt in almost every classroom. As the needs of the children increase, teachers are increasing their efforts to understand each child.

At the same time there is growing awareness of the need for working with each child as an individual person, there are continuing changes in the school curriculum. At every turn is an apparently valid proposal for some new approach such as air-age education, conservation education, consumer education, safety education, and citizenship education. Who can deny their value? But who can deny that they call for major adjustments for the teacher who is never asked to omit anything, but merely to add something more?

The size of classes in our Sanford schools is an important factor in the instruction being offered our children. The increasing school population in the Longfellow School District has required a split session for the sub-primary grade, while two divisions were required in Springvale. This increasing school population is apparent throughout Sanford. It has been necessary to have two second grades in the Lincoln School—two fifth grades in the Hamlin School and two sixth grades in the Longfellow School. While school administrators try to keep the class size between 25 and 29 we do have many units containing more than 30 and two units between 35 and 40. A breakdown in school enrollment follows:

SANFORD PUBLIC SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Grade	Hawthorne	Longfellow	Lincoln	Lafayette	Edison	Hamlin	Emerson	S. H. S.	Total
S. P.	12	44	44	36	35				171
1	9	32	24	26	29				120
2	10	25	44	26	21				126
3	7	37	38	28	31				141

8						31	99		130
9								144	144
10								154	154

Total	49	244	179	198	201	154	192	560	1777

The problem of teaching load cuts across both financial administration and personnel administration. Adequate school funds are essential if class size and pupil loads are to be held within reasonable limits. An example of this situation will occur at the Longfellow School in September, 1952, when it will be necessary to add a new first grade teacher in order to handle the large number of children who will be first graders in 1952.

Several important changes have been made during the year 1951 and I would like to review them for you at this time:

1. A repair crew, supervised by Mr. Earle Gorrie and working under the direction of the Superintendent of Schools, worked during the summer months in our schools. Major repairs were completed by this group ranging from a retaining wall in front of the Memorial Gymnasium to new cement steps at the Longfellow School.

2. Opening of new cafeterias at the Lincoln and Hamlin Schools. In September a hot noon lunch was provided youngsters in Springvale. About 120 youngsters take advantage of this opportunity daily and with the completion of the basement of the Memorial Gymnasium, it will be possible to open new cafeterias in the Sanford Schools.
3. Opening of a new automotive shop in the Sanford Vocational School.
4. Closing of the grade school woodworking shops and the opening of a new general shop for grade school youngsters in the Sanford Vocational School.
5. Appointment of a full time (A.M.) driver education instructor for Sanford High School.
6. A continuation of the physical education phase of adult education for the entire winter season.
7. Opening of the Memorial Gymnasium on Saturday for grade school children of parochial and public schools.
8. Appointment of a teacher-coach (male) at the Emerson Junior High School to handle football, baseball and basketball for all boys.
9. Construction of a "Little League" baseball diamond at the Emerson School.
10. Change in some conveyance routes making it possible for children to board school busses later in the morning and returning them home earlier in the afternoon. Extension of routes making possible conveyance for more children living beyond the one mile conveyance line.
12. Extension courses given by the University of Maine and the University of New Hampshire in Science and Social Studies for the teachers in our school system.
13. Appraisal of the School Curriculum by all school personnel at regular monthly conferences.
14. Revision of the insurance coverage on public school property as listed below:

EDUCATION

School	Old	New
Lincoln	77,000	95,000
Hamlin	39,000	70,000
Edison	77,000	95,000
Roosevelt	12,000	40,000
Longfellow	50,000	80,000
Emerson	41,000	80,000
High School	293,000	300,000
Lafayette	87,000	100,000
Memorial Gym	350,000	350,000
Division 2	125,000	125,000

All of the above are covered under an 80% co-insurance clause. The Hawthorne School is covered for $45,000, but is not under the 80% clause.

The mere desire to want good schools is not enough to make certain that we will have good schools.

We must all have the desire:

To work for them—personally. To spend time and energy studying the school program and planning and working with others for needed improvements.

To maintain a capable School Board. To select as school board members the community's most interested and most competent citizens in a democratic way.

To keep well informed about our schools. To be willing to go to reliable sources for our facts on the schools.

To cooperate with our schools. To give direct personal assistance, when needed, with various school projects and activities. To encourage a wholesome attitude and favorable response on the part of pupils toward the school and its program.

To appraise the schools fairly. To ignore petty criticisms that have no valid foundation in facts and help to create and maintain a constructive and helpful public opinion toward education in Sanford.

To insist on the best possible teachers. To give full support to the salary schedule, job security, working conditions, and status in the community which will attract and hold the most competent teachers.

To help pay for good schools. To understand and expect that good schools cost money.

EDUCATION

To help plan and achieve needed improvements. To serve on committees and work in the parent-teacher association and in other organizations, planning and working for the things the schools most urgently need.

In closing, I would like to thank the citizens of Sanford, the School Committees and the entire school family for the confidence and support extended to my administration during the year 1951.

Respectfully submitted,

NEIL V. SULLIVAN,

Superintendent of Schools

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

Dear Sir:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment

The enrollment of Sanford High has varied little for the past few years. In September it was 560 with the usual number of drop-outs in the first few weeks. According to an article appearing in "Nation's Schools" a year ago, it was found by a national survey that the problem of drop-outs from high schools was reaching serious proportions. That Sanford High by its balanced curriculum is solving this problem in a fairly satisfactory manner is evidenced from a study of the classes of 1950, 1951, and the present senior class. The average percentage of drop-outs for each four year period is slightly under 16% as against the national average of 40 to 50%. This is especially significant in an industrial town.

Philosophy of Education

It is the responsibility of the school to prepare boys and girls to take their places in our highly industrialized, democratic and complex society of today. Constant evaluation must take place through the combined efforts of the administration, the guidance office, and the members of the faculty. This has been done throughout the past year and a working philosophy of education has been developed in line with the rapidly changing world. A basic belief in the philosophy is the preparation of all youth for intelligent citizenship in a democracy.

Guidance Department

There has been a steady and satisfying increase in the services of this important department. A well-rounded testing program is functioning under the direction of Mr. Charles Towle. Educational and occupational guidance has been systematically carried on by Mr. Towle and Miss Folsom and results have been gratifying. Students returning from the armed services or from colleges have in great numbers availed themselves of this school service. This is an outstanding example of a department which functions quietly and with efficiency, to help facilitate the educational process of all our students.

EDUCATION

Visual Aids

Visual Aids have become an accepted and important part in education. There has been a decided improvement in the coordination of films with classroom work and much excellent long range planning is now being carried on in this field under the supervision of Mrs. Clarke. The guidance department has also made use of many films in that field. Film strips on manners have been purchased and added to a small but growing film strip library.

Vocational Department

During the past year much well deserved publicity has been given our shop course, especially that part of the course carried on in the Sanford Vocational School on River Street. These boys, members of the Junior and Senior classes, are by the addition of the new auto mechanics unit, now able to do intensive work in three major branches. Earle Gorrie, head of the department, handles the building trades, Carl Lamb the metal work, and Forrest Pillsbury the auto mechanics. Beside the necessary theory, much practical work is being carried on by each group. Actual repair of cars takes place under the efficient direction of Mr. Pillsbury. Mr. Lamb's department includes work in the maintenance of machines, which includes making of gears, repair of shafts, and many other varied projects in the field of metal work. Mr. Gorrie's building trades group has received valuable experience in the construction of cement walks in front of the gym, and many other types of construction in the basement now being completed. This type of work has the approval of the head of Vocational Education of the State Department of Education in Augusta. Members of that department have brought to the attention of other Maine communities this important phase of the work of Sanford High School. The work of Mr. Edward Botka in the industrial arts shop in the high school building is also worthy of praise as is that of Emile Cote in the related subjects field. Mr. Cote is one of the few shop men in the state qualified and certified to carry on such work.

Driver Training

Because it has been necessary to assign Mr. Francis Topping to full time in the field of Biology and Health, it has been necessary to transfer Driver Training to Mr. William Hayden who is carrying on this important work with enthusiasm and efficiency. Thanks to Mr. Edwin Ballenger, a beautiful Dodge car has been turned over to the high school for its use in the course.

Music

The Band under the direction of Mr. Firth, Mr. Cella, and Mr. Arnold, has, during the past year, made an enviable record.

EDUCATION

Sent by the Lions Club to the Lions International Convention at Atlantic City to represent Maine, it acquitted itself with distinction as it did in the Western Maine Festival in Portland and the New England Festival in Boston. It has also been active within the town. In a recent concert, it served notice that it was equally as able as a Concert Band. Much credit should be given the Band Boosters and the School Committee for their aid and encouragement.

The Glee Club, under Miss Harvey, attended and received excellent ratings, also, at the Western Maine and New England Festivals. This group has appeared publicly here in Sanford several times during the past year and has been accorded praise. The Glee Club Boosters, though small in numbers, have worked diligently in the interest of the group.

Other Activities

Other groups such as the Dramatics, Projectionist, Girls' Athletic Association, Chess, Debating Clubs and the Future Homemakers are all playing their parts in the co-curricula picture of the school. The Student Council has been particularly active during the past year and has played a vital part in the life of Sanford High.

Assemblies

Since the building of the gymnasium, assemblies have played an important part in the life of the students. Rallies and award assemblies have tended to increase school spirit. Outstanding speakers have accepted invitations to appear and have brought valuable messages. Sanford High has enrolled in a national assembly service and as a result has been able to secure nationally known speakers, actors, and musicians.

A very important phase of the educational value of these activities has been a realization by students that they themselves, as an audience, have a definite part to play. It is a tribute to them and to their teachers that they have been considered by these visitors as outstanding in their appreciation and decorum.

Physical Education

Miss Catherine Stulb has amply justified her selection this year as girls' physical education director. Her program is varied, well rounded, and inspirational and compliments the excellent work carried on by Justin Nunan with the boys. Mr. Howard Richardson, head of physical education for Maine, rates this department as one of the finest in the state. This is a real compliment and is a result of the vision of our citizens and our school department, for such a program, even with our excellent physical education staff, would be impossible without adequate facilities and proper understanding of the philosophy of physical education and health.

Athletics

Viewing the entire picture of interscholastic competition might lead one to the conclusion that sports in Sanford High have not kept pace in the past few years with other activities. This would probably be true if we defined success as games won against other schools. Nearly the same condition exists as last year. In baseball and girls' basketball, Sanford has compiled a good record—a fairly good record in football with an inexperienced squad. Track still awaits the completion of the Stadium with facilities for that sport. Boys' basketball will improve when the present excellent grade school basketball system provides sufficient material equal to that of other towns and cities. Sanford is forced, to some extent, to play city schools numerically out of its class or fortunate enough to have a great number of boys with pre-high school training in Y. M. C. A., Boys' Club, Community Center, or grammar school gyms. All large high schools have excellent coaches (including Sanford) so winning teams must, of necessity, if we continue the same schedule, be the result of an abundance of material with experienced grade school coaching. We have that type of coaching now but it will take time for the results to be felt by our high school teams. We can, however, look with satisfaction on other aspects of the situation. Sportsmanship and selfcontrol among our team members has improved to the point where it is, I believe, a source of pride to the coaches, the administration, the students, and the other basketball followers. Students attending the games have shown, even in the defeat of their team, a consideration and good sportsmanship toward their own and the opposing school that is winning them the respect and friendship of other schools. That athletics for the many is the rule is borne out by the fact that 324 boys and girls are in competition—either on interscholastic or intra-mural teams.

Stadium Club

No organization has done more for high school students of the town of Sanford than this dynamic group of men and women. Having envisioned an athletic field second to none in the state, they have been tireless in their efforts to achieve their goal. The project is a long way from being completed. Much money and much effort are still needed but with the continued hearty support of the citizens of the town the goal can be reached.

EDUCATION

Cafeteria

With the completion of the basement area under the gymnasium scheduled to be completed about April 1, plans have already been made to move the present cafeteria to its new home during April vacation. Sketches of the new kitchen submitted by Mr. Prendergast, an expert of the S. A. Johnson Co., have been used as a basis of planning by the high school administration, the cafeteria staff and the superintendent of schools. The new kitchen area will consist of usable equipment now in the old cafeteria plus several additional items. A new large size dishwasher will be installed to replace the inadequate small circular type washer now in use. A feature of the new machine will be the capacity to take care of trays as well as dishes. The dishwasher will be equipped with suitable dish tables to facilitate the quick handling of dishes. A six foot partition will partially cut off the dish room from the rest of the kitchen. As a result, one of the most modern kitchens in the state will take care of the ever increasing demands which now include the preparing of food for the high school and two elementary schools.

It is worthy of note that during the month of November a total of 10,000 Class A and C meals were served. It is expected that the new cafeteria will continue to be self-sustaining. This is a tribute to the excellent management of Mrs. Ellen Goodwin and her co-workers, Mrs. Mary Boucher and Mrs. Dora Krieger who, during this era of high food prices, are still able with the regular government subsidy to furnish nourishing, well-balanced meals for 25 cents.

Graduates

Thirty-four of the 1951 graduating class entered technical schools, nursing schools, colleges, and universities. Reports from the colleges indicate that these students are making satisfactory records of attainment. We shall continue to give our college preparatory students the best preparation possible.

Approximately 17 percent of the 1951 class joined the armed services. Very many of these boys, home on leaves, have visited school and have described service training programs in which they have taken an active part—many with distinction.

Reports from employers would seem to indicate that Sanford High School graduates employed by them are doing effective work.

In conclusion, I wish to extend my sincere appreciation to the Superintendent of Schools and the School Committee who have shown themselves always ready and anxious to provide the very best education for all of the students of Sanford High

EDUCATION

School. That the past year has been one of real progress is due in no small part to their vision, their enthusiasm, and their deep understanding of modern education. I would also like to extend to the citizens of Sanford and to the members of the Sanford High faculty my thanks for their cooperation without which progress would be impossible.

SCHOOL NURSING REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1951

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The functions of the school nursing service have involved a program with well children, interpreting the individual child's health needs and assisting in coordinating all health activities.

The school nursing service has attempted to carry out these functions by applying the principles of public health nursing to the school program—namely, the prevention of physical and mental disabilities as well as care to ill children.

An individual health record for each child is kept in the school the child is attending. A summary of the child's physical background is obtained from the parents at the sub-primary, fourth and seventh grade level and transferred to the record. The reports of examinations and inoculations given during the child's school years are recorded. The keeping of these records and compiling from them reports for parents, teachers, family physicians, the state department of health and other agencies has been a large part of the nurse's program. These health records, available to the school personnel should make for a more intelligent contact with the child while in the classroom.

Every teacher has been given material for a classroom health folder. In this folder is a copy of the teacher's part in the school nursing program, a copy of emergency care for accidents and sudden illness occurring in school, a vision testing chart for grades needing such, slips to send home to parents for exclusion of children and a summary of communicable diseases published by the state department of health. This has given each teacher a background for our service.

Children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades received physical examinations by physicians appointed by the school department. The nurse arranged for, attended, and interpreted these examinations to the child, family and teachers. These examinations proved of two-fold value—first, by detecting early abnormalities and second, by teaching the child the importance of regular medical check-ups during his entire life-span.

The program for conservation of sight was given thought and time. An optometrist examined the children in the same grades as selected for the physical examinations. The teachers of the other grades used a screening test for the vision and referred to the school optometrist any child having difficulty. Children needing further care were referred to their family. Local organizations have been helpful in providing for special treatment for children with vision problems. This very important program is making our children and teachers more "vision conscious."

The audiometer was used for testing the hearing of each child beyond the first grade level. This is a mechanical means of testing for adequate hearing. Children showing a hearing loss below a certain percentage were referred to ear specialists for further care. Children in the sub-primary and first grades were tested by ordinary teacher and child conversation.

The nursing service participated in a communicable disease prevention program. Parents of children attending school for the first time were given copies of the school routine for prevention of contagion. Immunization clinics, attended by the health officer and nurse, were held for children in the sub-primary, first and second grades. Protection was offered at these clinics against small-pox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. Arrangements were made for tuberculosis contacts to have chest x-rays. Also, tuberculin patch testing was done in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades.

A program was begun to provide better care for the children's feet—thus preventing difficulties later in life. Arrangements were made for a podiatrist to examine the children in the four selected grades mentioned for other types of physical examinations. Recommendations for corrective care and selection of shoes were given to parents as advised by the examining podiatrist.

No nursing program is adequate without considering the principles of mental hygiene. The nurse assisted parents and teachers in their relationships with their children. Children and families needing special mental hygiene treatment have been referred to psychiatrists and the state mental health clinic.

Individual services have been given to meet the needs of a child with a particular type of physical handicap. It is recognized that a program of examinations means little unless there is follow-up and direction for care for defects or suspected defects.

The children's nutritional status has been improved by the consumption of milk during the morning session. Organizations have helped finance this milk for children unable to pay for their own.

In executing this nursing service it has been kept in mind that a child is a member of a family. It is hoped that our service has helped the child fit into this family unit more successfully because of an improved physical and mental status.

LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF EVENING SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit to you my report as principal of Sanford Evening School for the year 1951.

The following subjects were offered this year:

Americanization	Bookkeeping
Woodwork—Arts and Crafts	Typewriting
Building Trades	Comptometer
Auto Mechanics	Cooking
Blueprint Reading	Dressmaking
English and Social Studies	Rug Making
Red Cross First Aid	Driver Training

Four new subjects were added this year—Building Trades, Auto Mechanics, Red Cross First Aid, and Driver Training. A great deal of interest was shown in these subjects. It was necessary to limit the number taking Driver Training; therefore we were unable to accommodate all those wishing to take the course.

Because of the large enrollment in Comptometry, it was necessary to divide the class into two groups, each group meeting two nights per week.

The adult Physical Education classes for men and women were again very popular.

The gauge of a successful evening school is measured by the student interest. Our attendance proved the popularity of the courses. This year in particular many inquiries were made about the continuance of courses after the Christmas holidays. From an administrative point of view, the year 1951 was very gratifying.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to you, to the teachers, to the Goodall-Sanford, Inc., to the students, and to all others who helped to make Sanford Evening School successful.

Respectfully submitted,

ITHEL E. PRESCOTT, Principal

Sanford Evening School

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE MUSIC SUPERVISOR

To Superintendent Neil V. Sullivan

Dear Sir:

I hereby submit to you my report as music supervisor in the public schools of the Town of Sanford.

The function of education in our public school system is to train the child to use his mind, to give him information, train him to think and inculcate in him those principles of moral conduct which are the accepted code of our society.

Music teachers assert, rightfully, that no curriculum is complete without experience in music and the arts. For we know that music education touches the child's personality at sensitive points not easily reached by other school subjects.

The power of music develops desirable aspects of the whole personality of each child. Playing and singing together can develop a sense of responsibility, of cooperativeness, of loyalty, of setting group interests above personal interests, of companionship, to mention only a few. What music does to a person is infinitely more important than what a person does with music.

When one makes music a part of his daily living he becomes a broader and larger person through his comprehension of the message only music can bring. Music is a live thing, exciting, exhilarating, creative.

In education, in religion, in the marketplace, in the world of entertainment, in the field of therapeutics, and even in the field of international relations, music has taken a position which could hardly have been envisioned fifty years ago.

Music is one of the greatest forces in developing the emotional, aesthetic and spiritual aspects of human life. The music director is not only building a better musical group but is building better citizens, better schools, a better community and a better nation.

Among the objectives in music education in our public schools, the following are very important.

1. To develop character and enrich personality.
2. To develop a social consciousness.
3. To develop an appreciation of music through participation.
4. To teach a certain amount of music fundamentals appropriate to the age or grade level of the student.

EDUCATION

Teaching is the art of helping children to recognize and express their own needs and abilities, of guiding them in their choice of modes of expression, and helping them to adapt these modes to their individual needs and talents. In learning to cooperate, learning the advantages of team work, learning that music is a spiritual booster for everyone—by so learning, school musicians and their teachers are making our nation strong.

Time is seldom “wasted” in the arts, because the emotional drive to learn originates in the child himself and carries him swiftly forward, and the gap between teaching and learning is quickly closed.

Many teachers are beginning to realize that professional performance is the least important objective of the music teacher. Musical America cannot assimilate all those who are studying to become professional musicians. Technical proficiency is of course important. But it is only a tool for attaining the real values which come from a study of music.

Music and especially the performance of it has important social values. Playing or singing together is one of the most valuable activities in which a person can engage, because it develops an appreciation of the relationship of the individual to the group.

We believe with T. P. Giddings that time should be spent in singing and that we learn to do by doing. He also believes, and we agree, that the foundation of all music study is singing.

There is growing insistence of the American people that the best in music be included in their schools which is the result of their faith and hope that through music worthwhile social and personal values may be given to their children.

The music reading program in the grades has shown marked improvement and the children evidence real enjoyment in participation and in the ability to be self reliant. There is also marked improvement in the free, singing tone, which is being produced with open throat and proper breathing.

Some rote singing is still continued but more and more actual reading is taking place, when it is realized that posture, physical effort of singing, open throat, and all the things necessary for good singing, are going on while the children are reading and thinking different pitches, different notes, in cases they even think the words of the song, and besides all this the rhythm which of course, includes arithmetic, it is readily seen that they are accomplishing a real educational experience as well as a musical one.

EDUCATION

The High School Glee Club put on an operetta in the spring. participated in programs for different community organizations, took part in High School graduation, High School Open House and, as heretofore, took part successfully in the Western Maine and the New England Festivals held in Portland and Boston respectively. Miss Mallinson was pianist and assistant.

A Parents' Club was formed for the Glee Club and they worked hard all year in raising money so that it was possible to pay the expenses of everyone both for hotels and meals in Boston by using the money they raised, together with money raised by previous spring concerts and the operetta.

The Emerson Glee Club rehearsed under Mrs. Hayden and took part successfully in the Western Maine Festival in Portland. Both Junior High School student bodies took part in the music of their graduations making three graduation programs in which the music supervisor took an active part.

May I thank you, Mr. Page, the school officials, the Principals and the teachers for the cooperation which has made it possible for me to carry the great load of the vocal program and to feel that progress is being made.

Respectfully submitted,

MISS ABBIE HARVEY,

Supervisor of Music.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report as Supervisor of Art.

Since a town report is an evaluation of progress being made in a department and of plans for future development I would first like to cite a comment made by one of the visiting State Education Consultants last spring who said, "The Art I have seen exhibited in the Sanford schools is outstanding." Such a comment was a compliment to the curriculum development as a whole. Our teachers consider art not as a subject standing by itself, but as one of the factors in the curriculum that contributes to the growth and development of the child. They see Art as experience rather than mastery of skills and subject matter.

Many parents will read this report and it may be well to point out that we as teachers are able to detect a difference in the home attitude toward child Art expression. We no longer hear from a child, "I can't draw. My mother never could draw either." Few parents can escape the many articles and illustrations in current publications that point to child Art as a mental and emotional experience, sometimes very personal, that is often basic to his development as a thinking being.

From the textbook, "Conducting Experiences in English," comes this interesting quotation published in Art Education Bulletin. "Since the real purpose of creative expression is the development of the child's capacity to react creatively to his own experience, the process is more important than the product. The creative person does not sit behind his eyes, he sees with them."

In all areas of education teachers are striving to use the creative approach. We now feel ourselves committed to the task of developing boys and girls mentally, emotionally, socially and aesthetically. To do this every teacher must come to realize the inter-relationship of Art to all learning. Art is not only an integrator of personality but an integrating factor of curriculum content as well. A small child said, "To draw all you have to do is think, and then draw around the think." And so it is. The psychologists teach us, that to learn and retain what is learned, meaningful reaction must take place. Children to be educated should not sit behind their eyes, as many of us do before the lecturer's rostrum, but must draw, paint, sculpt, build, dance, sing and dramatize their learning experiences.

EDUCATION

Sanford teachers are developing rapidly in this direction. Sanford parents are developing also in their acceptance of new ideas. Our recent changes in administration keep us all on our toes. It is well that we do keep abreast of all trends. With the recent forming of the United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization has come the responsibility of the United States to establish leadership in every field. It is expected of us as a nation. Last summer UNESCO sponsored the first seminar in Art education at Bristol, England with twenty countries represented. The following basic concepts in Art education in the United States were set up and discussed: (1) The development of a healthy personality as the primary concern, (2) the bases of validity of art experiences in the development of the individual, (3) creative expression as the cornerstone of all art experiences, (4) their essentiality for all individuals at all school levels, and (5) the breadth of areas and media that are included within the definition of visual arts.

Nearest to our philosophy is that of England which is to be expected. Space does not permit a report of Art in other nations but it is interesting to note that the United States exhibit was outstanding and second to none; its special characteristics seeming to be great energy and exuberance.

The participants of this meeting felt strongly that Art is a powerful force in the development of international understanding and good will and are taking steps to establish a world-wide organization in Art education with an increased interchange of ideas, work and materials. Similarly the Red Cross as an instrument of world peace is assisting in the development of the International Art Exchange Program in which Sanford Schools have taken part. Drawings and paintings from our schools are represented in nine European countries. We hope to send more this spring. It is good to know that with teachers from all countries we can intensify, deepen and enrich the lives of boys and girls and adults throughout the world.

In conclusion, I wish to express to you, Mr. Sullivan, to the members of the School Committee, to Mr. Page and to all school personnel, appreciation for your continued cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Art Supervisor.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION, ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report as Supervisor of Elementary Physical Education.

Principles and Purposes of Physical Education

The physical education program has five major objectives:

1. Building organic fitness today and tomorrow through activities definitely selected to develop strength, vigor and capacity.
2. Inculcating health habits for today and tomorrow by providing and practicing ways and means for wholesome living.
3. Developing physical abilities and control by providing a wide, rich program of many activities that contribute to growth in neuro-muscular skills.
4. Encouraging boys and girls to develop recreational habits and interests that will carry over into adult hobbies and avocations.
5. Using learning situations which develop sportsmanlike attitudes for building character and better citizenship.

Good body mechanics has a very definite influence on health and in addition has aesthetic, economic, and social values which make it a primary objective in the total educational program. Continuous effort and supervision are necessary to safeguard this precious heritage of every boy and girl. Good posture is the animated and habitual body carriage of an individual whose anatomical parts are so aligned and balanced that the whole functions with ease and efficiency and in a manner that is pleasing to the eye. Good body mechanics and good posture are synonymous.

Although corrective physical education is programmed for all grade levels, the preventive phase of the program in which the classroom teacher has important responsibilities is extremely vital. This and early detection are emphasized.

What are the values of physical education, games and sports?

EDUCATION

- (a) They are indispensable to optimum health.
- (b) They build strength and endurance.
- (c) They promote agility and economy of effort.
- (d) They increase muscular and mental coordination.
- (e) They make for good sportsmanship.
- (f) They bring out qualities of leadership.
- (g) They help socialize children.
- (h) They teach cooperation and teamwork.

A sound foundation for all physical education is built in the first six years of the elementary school. During the early school years, the child undergoes marked changes and develops rapidly, so his program must be carefully regulated to fit his needs. He enjoys natural play activities which make lasting contributions to his physical, mental, social and moral growth.

As the pupil leaves the more sheltered environment of the elementary school in which one teacher was responsible for his guidance and intimately acquainted with his needs, and enters the more complex situation found in the junior high school in which more adult contacts are necessary, he is forced to make many adjustments. Responsibility for his guidance is shifted from one teacher to several departmental teachers and specialist supervisors. The seventh grade pupils are not all alike in many respects. Some of them are more mature than others. Particularly in physical education do they differ. Physical education must be adapted to the least well trained, but must also fill the needs of the more mature pupil.

Educational Implications of Physical Education

The teacher starts to guide the child toward physical fitness the first day he enters school. As the child enters a world composed of children of his own age, she must help him to adjust to the group and conform to good social and moral patterns of behavior. Since the child's health will depend somewhat upon how well he can fit into the daily general and physical activities of the school, the teacher observes his reactions to various situations closely. She notices any changes in his physical appearance and behavior. During this period of rapid growth, she makes frequent checks on height and weight, with consequent adjustment of chairs, desks and tables. Because of the plasticity of bones, she is especially careful of posture and does not allow excessive fatigue results from too long periods of sitting or too intensive physical exertion.

The individual classroom program incooperates into its physical program arrangements to provide action, rest, and supplementary feeding according to individual pupil need. Activity is the natural outcome of a healthy body, and vigorous games which require frequent moving about are planned to meet this need. The program also provides for the frequent use of equipment such as bean bags, ropes, bats, balls of various sizes, etc. Large groups of children are accommodated either indoors or out of doors with such equipment, and even the physically handicapped child is encouraged to develop skills through such activities as can be accommodated to his use.

Rhythms, singing games, and dances are a delightful part of the program. They supply drama as well as fun and have a high social and behavior value in teaching manners and courtesy. They aid in overall situations of awkwardness and self-consciousness through improving coordination and freedom of motion, and developing larger muscles. No child is unhappy when he is singing, dancing, or playing a game.

In order to reach the young child's mind and understand him, the classroom teacher in the physical education program enters into his world of imagination and makebelieve. Story plays involving body movements of all types of animals are the simplest activities for younger children. Many such stories lend themselves to dramatization and are planned on seasonal and holiday occasions. In all the situations mentioned above, the child is learning to get along with other children. He is learning to cooperate, to play fairly, to be a leader, to be a follower, to consider other children's rights as well as his own and to be a good member of the group.

Approaches to the Problem of Guidance Through Physical Education

Modern psychology stresses the importance of the child's identification transfer from the parent to the teacher. The attitude of the teacher is paramount since she is the school mother as the child's learning and physical activities are guided. This implies that the teacher also knows each home background in order to strengthen the child's emotional security. Any healthy pupil on the elementary level especially is restless, curious and dynamic. The physical education program then must capitalize on his vitality and joy of living by presenting and participating in planned activities. In the physical education experiences the child gains skills, attitudes, understandings and the appreciations of his role in today's world.

The role of the teacher, and especially that of the physical educator, becomes then, not a job but a privilege.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD W. BEALS,

Supervisor of Physical Education

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1952

The Municipal Officers elected by you, the people, to carry on the affairs of our municipality, herewith respectfully submit a narrative of their activities for the year 1952.

Since about the year 1941, the conditions which contributed largely to create one of the many burdens which local government had to face during the decade from 1930 to 1940, have disappeared. This is due largely to full employment of all people and to better economic conditions throughout the nation. Therefore, the relief burden that was saddled upon municipalities and which tried democracy to the utmost, has been absent, and we pray that it will not return to bedevil us in the years ahead. Were such conditions to return, it is our firm opinion that municipalities could never meet the needs of the times, and chaos would be the order of the day as far as municipal government is concerned.

For twelve years the Municipal Officers, as well as several committees appointed by various town meetings, pointed out the dire necessity and the hazardous conditions that prevailed at our municipal infirmary, and we are glad to report that the fall of 1952 saw the start of a modern and fireproof building which will eventually house these aged people under conditions befitting what we all like to call human decency and dignity.

The last decade for a time saw our municipality march from a position of heavy bonded indebtedness to that high eminence of being able to meet all our bills and having a sizable cash balance on hand, but, as any progressive community conscious of the needs of youth and the necessity of giving youth every available means and every opportunity to develop into the kind of citizens that America and our community will need in the years to come. Sanford may well pride itself in not sparing any effort in making available to the young citizens of tomorrow a gymnasium that compares well with that of many communities much larger than Sanford.

1952 saw the new appraisal go into effect, and while some property owners may feel that their tax bills were somewhat higher than they expected them to be, they can rest assured that the amount of tax they are paying on whatever property they own is the result of using a yard stick that has 36 inches for everybody, that the assessment is based upon the type of property they own, the quality of materials that went into it, and finally the location of the property, and last but not least, we might say with some degree of certainty that inequities in assessments have been removed from the local scene as far as it is humanly possible to do so.

1952 also saw the Municipal Officers pointing out the need of unifying our fire departments. This position of ours was buttressed and strengthened by the report of an independent committee set up by the several districts, and also by the report of the New England Fire Insurance Rating Assn., which for years has been recommending unification, but due to pressure from many sides, the town meeting did not go along with the recommendations of the Municipal Officers and the two agencies mentioned. Perhaps in the not too distant future, conditions in these departments may develop that will cause the legislative arm of our municipal government to take appropriate action in this direction, without prompting from any source.

We would also like to point out to the Warrant Committee and the Representative Town Meeting Members the need for increasing the wages or compensations of some of the clerical staff in the Selectmen's Office, and also in the office of the Town Clerk and Tax Collector, for the reason that wages or compensation of $38.00 and $41.00 per week for some of the personnel in these two offices is not comparable to clerical pay received by people engaged in this type of work in local industry or in local business offices, and we trust that the Warrant Committee, while working on the budget for the year 1954, will rectify these inequities by recommending increases and rendering justice to these employees.

Summing up, we want to thank the citizens of Sanford for having had the opportunity of serving during the year just ended. We know that some mistakes were made, but we firmly believe that they were of a human rather than intentional nature. We also want to thank every department for the fine cooperation given us, and to the clerical staff in the Selectmen's Office and all other offices for the gracious and efficient manner in which their work is done, and finally may we say that we are open at all times to criticism, and where rightly criticised, we shall endeavor, as far as is humanly possible, to improve our operations where possibility of improvement is pointed out to us.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,
THOMAS A. MEUNIER,
ARTHUR M. CARIGNAN,

Selectmen of Sanford, Maine

THE SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Town of Sanford

The Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1952:

With the delivery this past July of the new pumper No. 1 your fire department has been greatly strengthened. Underwriter's tests on Pumper No. 2 proved the pump in good condition and delivered capacity, but as this truck will be 25 years old in 1953 and is equipped with two-wheel brakes which are not reliable, we feel it should be replaced.

All fire alarm lines have been trimmed, fire alarm boxes painted, one new box and 35 cross arms installed, all but a small percentage of old underground cable removed and 5,873 feet of new alarm wire strung, 22 inspections were made. Plans are made this coming year for the installation of several new alarm boxes in sections now lacking this protection.

As the outgoing Chief, I feel sure this coming year you will give my successor, Chief Almon Stackpole, the same support you have given me.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Selectmen, all town departments, Springvale Fire Department, the New England Tel. & Tel. Co., and Central Maine Power Co., and especially those citizens who have erected fire escapes and exits on their properties in compliance with State Fire Regulations during the past year. It is this type of cooperation which tends to make our town a safer place in which to live.

Respectfully submitted,

HAROLD W. CLARK, Chief

CHARLES C. CHADBOURNE, 1st Asst.

ALMON STACKPOLE, 2nd Asst.

REPORT OF THE BOARD OF ENGINEERS OF THE SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Board of Selectmen
Town Hall
Sanford, Maine

To the Board of Selectmen:

The Board of Engineers of the Springvale Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1952:

We have responded to the following number of calls for the year: 11 bell alarms; 3 house calls; 6 department drills; 8 reserve firemen drills; 3 air raid alerts; 147 stills, and 800 inspections.

The equipment and station are in excellent condition.

This year we have purchased two new fire alarm boxes for replacements.

During the year, Mr. Clarence Hartley, Director of Civil Defense, has installed in our station a short wave radio for an emergency, which would be a great asset to the community if we had a power failure or emergency as we would be able to tie in with our own radios.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to the Board of Selectmen, Sanford Fire Department, Police Department and Highway Department for their cooperation this past year.

Respectfully submitted,

HARRY MARSHALL, Chief
HARLAND MOULTON, Assistant
CHARLES A. WINSLOW, Assistant

REPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

To the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit my report of activities of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency for 1952.

In January, we constructed the Control Center for Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety in the basement of the Springvale Town Hall. This Control Center is complete with radio receiver and transmitter, and with a radio receiver on the local police frequency and the State Police frequency. Sanford has the best communications system of any town in the state. The Control Center is the headquarters for communications and for the deputy directors of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety. It is here where most of the various division heads hold their meetings.

April 23 the first of a series of town alerts was held, pressing into service all divisions.

May 21 a town-wide alert was held, bringing into action some of the mutual aid from other communities.

June 18, an alert was held, stressing the Sanford and Springvale fire services.

August 27 an alert was held in the High Street area, and was supported by the State Decontamination Squad.

September 20 an alert was held in the South Sanford area, supported by all divisions.

We have held nine divisional training missions, and we have participated in five out-of-town missions during the year.

In October we started the Ground Observation Post on the roof of the Town Garage on Witham Street. The construction of this post was under the capable supervision of Assistant Director Carl J. Lamb.

We regret the loss by death of General Paul S. Emery, under whose leadership Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency was organized in 1950.

We express our appreciation for the help of every member of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency, as well as to all others who aided us in any way.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE E. HARTLEY,
Director of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety

HEALTH AND SANITATIONREPORT OF THE
HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1952

To the Selectmen,
Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The following is a report of health activities during the year ending December 31, 1952:

All school children having the consent of their parents were vaccinated against smallpox and inoculated against diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis. They were checked periodically for diseases and defects. The monthly clinic for the vaccination and inoculation of pre-school children was continued on the third Thursday of each month.

The number of contagious diseases reported compares favorably with last year's totals with the exception of measles. The total number of measles reported in the state jumped almost 500%, from 2,093 in 1951 to 11,173 in 1952.

Few complaints of nuisances and infractions of sanitary and plumbing laws were received. Most complaints were concerned with illegal keeping of livestock within the town limits. Residents who wish to keep chickens or rabbits inside Sanford proper should consult the local laws on this situation.

Medical and surgical care was given to welfare and old age assistance cases with inadequate grants. Several hundred house calls, hospital visits, and trips to Acton, Lebanon, Shapleigh, and Bauneg Beg rest homes were made.

Dr. Kenneth J. Kornetsky continued to give eye examinations to children of the grade schools.

Commendations are in order for the fine work of the welfare and Community Health nurses. I should also like to thank Mrs. Elwin Holland for her cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.
Health Officer
Town of Sanford, Maine

NURSING REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The following is submitted to acquaint you with the work of The Community Health Association for the year 1952.

The Association was presided over by a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and thirty directors who volunteered their time for this work.

A nursing staff was employed and an office maintained in the Sanford Trust Company as headquarters for these nurses.

During the past year home and office nursing care was provided to ill individuals at a moderate cost. All nursing care was done under the supervision of the patient's family doctor. 1,218 visits were made for this type of care.

The maternity program consisted of 88 home visits to pre-natal patients and 85 home visits to mothers and new-born babies.

The program with well infants and pre-school children was an important phase of the work. The nurses assisted the health officer and arranged for monthly clinics for immunization against tetanus, whooping cough and diphtheria. 167 pre-school children were immunized and 94 pre-school children vaccinated. 500 home visits were made to well babies to assist the parents in giving needed care.

The program for prevention, education, and care of tuberculosis continued as in previous years. 446 home visits were made to tuberculosis patients, suspects, and contacts. 62 of these visits were of a bedside nursing care. Chest clinics were arranged for and held monthly at the Goodall Hospital. 108 patients attended these clinics.

145 visits were made to patients with cancer for the purpose of bedside nursing and education. Arrangements were made to show films on the means of early detection of the condition and a symposium held with a doctor in attendance. Films were shown to 392 women in this community.

A program for early detection of a diabetic condition was begun in November. At that time health education material was distributed to 210 individuals. 165 adults had a urinalysis for detection of sugar. 11 were referred to their family physicians for care. This program was approved by the local medical association. 72 home visits were made to diabetics during the year for health education, bedside nursing, instruction for giving insulin, and assistance with their diets.

The Association sponsored care for 30 children at the Health Camp for a seven-week period. The supervision of these children's care during the winter was transferred to the school nurse. The children cared for were ones with a mental or physical disability and referred for care by their family physicians.

The total number of nursing visits made during the year was 2,905.

In conclusion, the program has been carried on to provide as needed, nursing care and health education to the citizens of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD T. HANSCOM, President
The Community Health Association

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The activities of the Park Commission during the year 1952 have been varied, the progress and development very gratifying.

Twenty-five 8-10 foot nursery grown shade trees were set out in various sections of the town and a complete spraying was done.

Landscaping has been done in that section of the William O. Emery Drive with trees, shrubs, and benches in 1952.

The attendance at the playgrounds this year was 12,624.

The Park Commission extends its appreciation to all those who have so faithfully cared for and protected the young trees and shrubs that have been planted.

"Through your Park Commission a more beautiful Sanford."

Respectfully submitted,

RAYMOND LORD, Chairman

ROLAND LANGLAIS

CHARLES BLOUIN

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1952 fiscal year, it is a pleasure to report on the status of our public school system in Sanford.

Jefferson and Lincoln had an abiding faith in the good judgment of the common people—a faith which time has fully justified.

The truth is that we, the people, have dealt amazingly well with the problems which have confronted us in the past.

But there is no doubt that we are now entering a new era when our most pressing problems are complex in nature, and world-wide in scope.

The part which our schools must play in this new period is obvious. They must provide a great part of the basic information needed to understand basic problems of the day, and they must develop a resolution on the part of the students and graduates to continue to keep well informed.

The responsibility of the public is also equally important. In order for you to appreciate the work your schools are doing, it is necessary for you to visit them. It is not enough to look at them from the outside—take a look at the inside as well.

The Sanford School Committee is proud of the "Know Your Schools" program inaugurated here in Sanford in 1951. During the past year, this program included a guided tour of all school buildings; an "open house" program during American Education Week; a program designed to acquaint you with the work being carried on in our elementary school; a program built around our secondary curriculum; a brochure on "The School and the Community" and finally an Educational Supplement appearing in the Sanford Tribune on Thursday, November 6.

In reviewing the financial pages of this report it is important to remember that your tax dollar is spent in an effort to give your youngsters—and the kid next door—and their freckle-faced friends down the block—an education that will make them better equipped to meet the problems of 1953 and most important—better citizens of tomorrow.

Public schools in today's changing world must have definite goals.

The great goal is the flexible, the free and the inquiring mind. As Eric Johnston puts it, "Give youth a chance at learning how to inquire, how to reach for truth, steer him where he may best find truth—then let him judge for himself. Give youth that, and intolerance, hatred, contempt and belligerency becomes wrong at once in his own philosophy."

In supplying our schools with the necessary tools for learning, it is necessary for the school administrator to practice efficiency and at the same time provide the essential textbooks and supplies so that the classroom teacher will not be handicapped in the development of an educational program.

Recent developments in science and world affairs have greatly increased the need for new textbooks, and with growing enrollments we are faced with a steady demand for more and more books. During 1952 over $2 000 was spent to equip our classrooms with new maps, charts and globes. New textbooks have been selected in the field of geography and history and many have already reached the hands of the student. New books have also been provided for Biology, Physics and Language Arts. Interesting and colorful modern textbooks have been purchased to replace books worn by use in our schools for many years. We may be proud of the new books in reading now in use in all elementary schools.

The purchase of two additional sound motion picture projectors in 1952 now provides every school with at least one sound motion picture machine. In addition all schools are equipped with film strip and opaque projectors.

Teachers in the Sanford public schools continue to improve themselves professionally. During the past year twenty teachers either attended summer school or took extension courses earning a total of 135 semester hours of additional professional training. Three of our teachers received Master of Arts degrees from leading eastern universities.

Teachers are also improving their ability to teach in many ways. On their own time and, usually at their own expense, they take part in activities designed to make them better teachers. Workshops, professional meetings, conferences during the school year, and attendance at college during the summer, evenings or Saturdays are examples.

An improved salary schedule has helped to retain good teachers as well as attract capable and qualified new teachers.

EDUCATION

The bulk of the new tax money has gone into improved salaries and wages for school employees. By keeping pace with other Maine communities it has been possible to keep teacher turnover at an absolute minimum and, as a result, the children of our public schools benefit from the experience of an excellent staff of teachers.

The maintenance of the school plant continued to be emphasized in 1952 and our custodians again attended a five day institute designed to help them with the problems of heating, lighting and upkeep of school property.

The men caring for our school buildings have taken an increased interest in the maintenance of their buildings and, as a result, we are able to boast of a clean and well kept school plant.

School Buildings and Rising Enrollments

Each year in January a school census is taken and provides information which can be translated into what have proved to be reasonably accurate predictions of future school enrollments. Once the census figures are available, the procedure follows three steps:

1. Total number of children likely to attend school.
2. Of the total number—the number likely to attend public school—this estimate is based on past experience.
3. The application of a formula to translate these age groups into first grade groups and the projection of the various groups over a five year period.

Before applying any formula, it might be wise to look at the total picture of school enrollment in the United States.

National public school enrollment in 1952 is 7 per cent above the 1940 figure. By 1960, the enrollment may be expected to rise to a figure 34 per cent higher than in 1940.

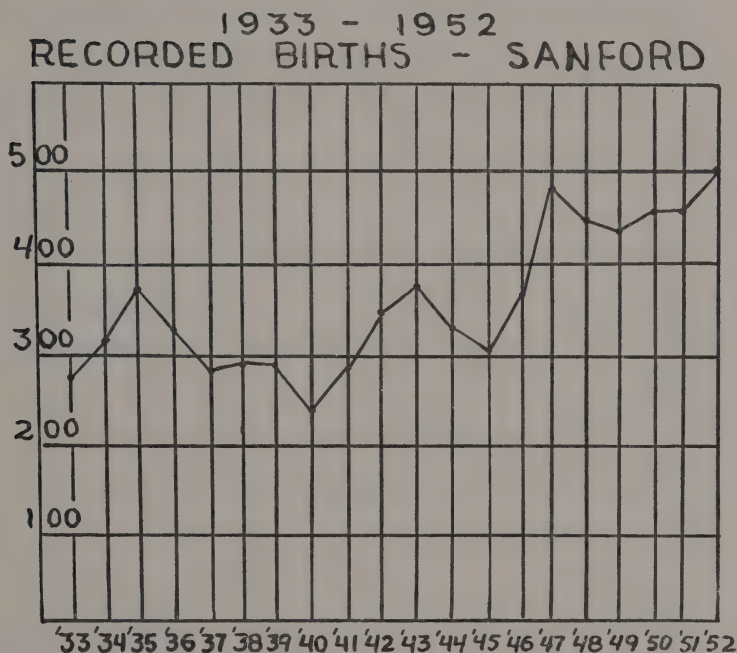

School enrollment began its long climb in 1946, when it numbered approximately 23,500,000 pupils. It is estimated that in 1953 the total enrollment will be 28,000,000. By 1960, the total may be expected to exceed 34,000,000.

Here in Sanford the heavy sub-primary enrollments this year are the result of the large number of births in 1947—but 1952 broke 1947's record in births and predictions for 1953 exceed the recorded births of the past year.

I have presented three line graphs in an effort to interpret the trend in our community of the increasing school population. First, a graph showing recorded births from 1933-1952:

The average number of births from 1933-1938 was 310; from 1936-1946 was 318; from 1947-1952 was 444.

This first graph presents the number of children born in Sanford. It is now necessary to see how many of these new babies enter the schools of Sanford and of those entering school how many attend public school. The following graph presents a study of public and parochial sub-primary enrollment from 1947-1952.

EDUCATION

GRAPH SHOWING PUBLIC-PAROCHIAL SUB-PRIMARY ENROLLMENT AND RECORDED BIRTHS

In planning school building needs, it is necessary to determine the trend of public and parochial school enrollment. Graph No. 2 indicates two definite trends; first—80 per cent of all children born locally will, five years after birth, enter either a public or parochial school in Sanford. Out of every hundred children 55 per cent will attend public school. This is only an average as some years parochial schools will receive over 50 per cent, while still other years the public school figure might be higher. Of the 388 students entering school in September, 1952—213 children or 55 per cent entered public schools.

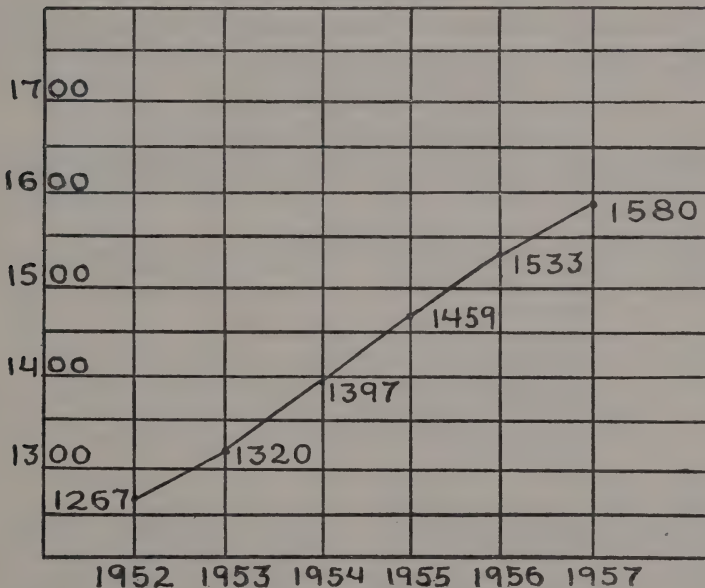

After predicting the number of children who will enter our public schools it is necessary to project the enrollment over the next span of years and try to determine whether or not you will have enough room to handle the future school population. Graph No. 3 illustrates what will happen to our public school enrollment during the next five years.

PROJECTED GRADE SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

PROJECTED ELEMENTARY ENROLLMENT

From graph No. 3 it is obvious that we must plan for an increasing elementary enrollment during the next several years. The question to consider is—Do We Have Enough Available Classroom Space to Accomodate Our Increasing Grade School Enrollment? Your School Committee has carefully studied the situation and this is what they find: All rooms now being used at the Edison, Lafayette, Hawthorne and Emerson Schools—one room available at the Longfellow School and two rooms available at the Hamlin and Lincoln Schools. However, all rooms will be filled in September, 1953, and it appears that sub-primary classes must be put on a half day schedule. At the present time several teachers have 40 or more students in a single grade.

EDUCATION

After carefully studying the enrollment trends your School Committee requested the Town Meeting members to name a committee of three to meet with them and study the building needs of our public schools. This committee has been named and, together with your School Committee, will make their recommendations to Town Meeting members in the spring of 1953.

Repairs, Insurance, Conveyance, Cafeterias and Insurance

The only change made in the insurance schedule during 1952 was that at Sanford High School where the insurance was increased from $300,000 to $450,000.

The following repair work was completed during 1952:

Sanford Memorial Gymnasium

Grading and landscaping in front of building; retaining walls and new cement walks; re-sealing of gymnasium floor and bleachers.

Completion of basement area (lighting, plumbing, heating):

1. Stage
2. Kitchen
3. Cafeteria
4. All purpose room
5. Locker rooms
6. Athletic supply room
7. Toilet areas
8. Lobby area

This area has been completed with the help of our Vocation School boys.

Sanford High School

The new area in the gym made it possible for us to change our old cafeteria into a modern Industrial Arts classroom where related subjects are taught to our Vocational School boys.

Conveyance 1951-52

Total Number of pupils transported	176,750
Total number of miles	64,096
Average number of pupils transported daily	1,010
Average number of miles daily	353

Cafeterias

In September 1952, new cafeterias were opened at the Edison, Lafayette, Emerson, and Longfellow Schools. Potential facilities were available at the Lafayette, Emerson, and Edison and our summer crew converted them into excellent areas where food could be easily handled and served. Facilities were not available at the Longfellow School, but the Goodall Band Hall was turned over to the School Department by the Goodall-Sanford Company and this building has been converted into a dining hall for children of the Longfellow School.

A new central cafeteria located in the basement of the Memorial Gymnasium was completed during the summer. This kitchen prepares food for all high school students and teachers and all grade schools with the exception of the Hawthorne School. The food for the grade schools is packaged in insulated containers and transported by station wagons to the sub-kitchen where it is served to the children. During the winter months it has not been unusual to serve over 800 youngsters daily. This is about 50% of the public school population and is an indication of the popularity of the hot lunch program.

Conclusion

At the beginning of this report I indicated that the great goal of education is the free and the inquiring mind. I hope that it will be possible for our schools to produce self-reliant, thinking, well-informed, active citizens who will work, competently and happily, for themselves and their families in their chosen field and for the common good.

Education in citizenship is basic to all. It should begin in kindergarten and never end. It does not deny the essential value of the three R's. It gives them meaning and purpose. It develops reliance and it promises cooperation for the common welfare. It is the link between the school and the home. It is the link between the school and the community. It gives practical expression to the values of religion and the teachings of the church.

The goal of education for all will not be attained unless all of us, parents, teachers, taxpayers, labor and management, all citizens join forces to look at the problems, to face the questions, to try to find the answers. Your teachers, your School Committee, needs your help and cooperation.

The interest you have taken in your public schools has been a heartwarming experience for your superintendent. If the past is to be an indication of the future I am certain that the public schools of Sanford will continue to be the finest in Maine and in all New England.

My sincere thanks for the cooperation of an understanding School Committee, a most cooperative group of teachers and school employees, and a public that has been willing to accept the responsibility of supporting public education.

Respectfully submitted,

NEIL V. SULLIVAN,

Superintendent of Schools

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment as of October 1 was 635, an increase of about 100 over June of 1952. Part of this increased enrollment came from Alfred and Waterboro as a result of the discontinuance of their high schools. Part of it, however, came from other sources including an increase in students from our own town. Since October 1, the usual number has dropped out of school for various reasons—moving out of town, illness, work, etc.

That the curriculum of Sanford High is meeting very well the needs of its students, is shown by the continuing comparatively small number of drop-outs.

In the graduating class of last June, out of a total of 114 students, 26 are in the armed services, 43 in schools of higher learning, 36 are employed, and 9 are married. Particularly since Sanford is an industrial town, the number (43) attending higher schools and colleges, is highly significant. Of the 26 in the armed services, nearly all of them have gone to service specialist schools and are doing well.

Scholarship continues to be one of our prime objectives. A record for Sanford High was made this year when three of our Senior boys passed the highly competitive NROTC exams. If they are successful in passing their physical exams, as well, they may be able to get four years of college education under that program.

Sanford High now has students at Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Bowdoin, Williams, Colby, Nasson, University of Maine, University of New Hampshire, Ohio State, Boston University, Babson, Tufts, Northeastern University, Rochester Institute of Technology, Fisher, Colby Jr. College, Westbrook Jr. College, Nichols Jr. College, Bentley's, Lasell Jr. College, Gorham Teachers' College, Central Bible Institute, New England Bible Institute, Becker, Jr. College, Katherine Gibbs, Maine Maritime Academy, General Electric (Apprentice Course), and several schools of nursing.

We, at Sanford High, are cognizant of the fact that all phases of our school must be continually evaluated and that we must always be on the alert to strengthen our entire program. In order to do this, the administration, the guidance department and the faculty have thoroughly examined the needs of our students, have developed a philosophy of education in line with this evaluation and the faculty is now working on the development of new courses of study for the various subjects taught.

Additional strength has been brought to an already excellent faculty by the addition of Mr. Newell Toothaker to the Science Department, Miss Edna Bailey to the English Department, and Mr. Edward Booth to the Language Department. All of these teachers are carrying on their work this year with enthusiasm and marked success.

Completion of the basement area of the gymnasium has provided a much needed cafeteria—modern in every respect. It is of sufficient capacity to take care of any increase in enrollment for many years. Much equipment for the kitchen has been purchased during the past summer—the cost financed by the cafeteria itself. It is worthy of note that the cafeteria is still self supporting even after the addition of the grade school lunch program. Much credit should be given the excellent group of cafeteria workers headed by Mrs. Ellen Goodwin. These women prepare between 600 and 800 lunches each day. The cost is 30¢ to each pupil.

Several additions in equipment have been made in other departments of the school—i. e. three new typewriters for the Commercial Department, two new sewing machines and two new electric ranges for the Home Economics Department.

One of the most important aspects of a good school is neatness and cleanliness. Sanford should be very proud of its high school building and gymnasium in that respect. No school is more fortunate in its custodians who, at all times, take a deep pride in their work. A clean building helps to make healthy students and a better school.

Sanford High has been moderately successful in its athletic program. The early season training of the football team was handicapped until the new stadium was opened for use. From that time on more candidates joined the squad and a new spirit was evident. Without question the use of the stadium will be of inestimable value to future Sanford football teams.

Basketball is still struggling to achieve the place planned for it in the field of sports at Sanford High. However, a well rounded program begins in the grades and continues with intramural, freshman, junior varsity, and varsity teams—both boys and girls. Sanford High teams have held their own with others in York County and promise soon to give a much better account of themselves when competing with the much larger Greater-Portland schools.

EDUCATION

Baseball is, as usual, one of Sanford's stronger sports. Track is still awaiting the completion of the quarter mile track as part of the stadium development.

The most important but less spectacular phase of athletic competition is being carried on systematically—i. e. the opportunity for each student to take part and receive benefit from some type of competitive sports. The valuable lessons incidental to such a program are being well learned.

Music is still one of the most popular and beneficial of the co-curricular activities of the school. The Band, under the direction of Mr. Firth and Mr. Arnold, still holds its place as one of the finest in Maine. The Glee Club, under the very able direction of Mrs. Agnes Tibbetts, is showing rapid improvement. A list of activities for the year will include Gilbert and Sullivan's Operetta "H. M. S. Pinafore," a concert, attendance at the Maine Music Festival, in addition to several local appearances. Work will soon begin on uniforms for the Glee Club group. Both the Band Boosters and Glee Club parents are working hard to further the interests of these two groups of musicians.

It is the objective of Sanford High School to furnish its boys and girls with as excellent a guidance program as can be found in any school in New England. Programs of other schools have been studied and a self evaluation of the work of Sanford's guidance department has been made to the end that we feel that this objective is being realized. Each student has ample opportunity to meet with Mr. Charles Towle, Guidance Director, and discuss his educational and vocational career, after having taken tests to help show his aptitudes, capacities, and achievements. All students are counseled a minimum number of times each year and any individual student may get added special aid and advice. Student employment has become more and more a function of this department as townspeople with employment opportunities form the habit of contacting the school office or the guidance department. More and more graduates also are returning to take advantage of this counseling opportunity.

The eyes of the world are focused upon the United States and the foremost thinkers of all countries are asking the secret of our great strength. Not the least of these strengths is our unparalleled educational system. Our American schools are ways of life which, translated into adult living, help to determine the destinies of communities and nations. Therefore we must, here at Sanford High, strive to continue to maintain an efficient faculty with a sound philosophy toward education and toward life. We must strive through all the agencies at our command, not only to maintain our high educational standards but, year after year, to be on the alert to improve the quality of education for which we are responsible.

EDUCATION

I wish to extend my warmest appreciation to you, as Superintendent of Schools, to the members of the School Committee, and to the citizens of Sanford who, one and all, have cooperated to make Sanford High a highly respected member among the secondary schools of Maine.

Respectfully submitted,

LAWRENCE L. PAGE,

Principal of Sanford High School

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The school nursing program was planned and executed in such a way that public health nursing procedures were used to benefit the individual child.

Assistance was given the physician in preparing for and conducting comprehensive physical examinations in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades. We not only note deviations from normal but try to make the examination a constructive learning experience for the child. Departures from normal found by the physician were made known to parents and teachers. Notification slips with recommendations for the family to consult their physician were given as needed. The following recommendations were made at the time of the examination:

Four children advised to have a urinalysis

Forty-one children advised to have their throats re-checked

Twenty-three children advised to have their hearts re-checked

One child advised to receive care for a skin condition

Two children advised to have a tuberculin test

Four children advised to have a basal metabolism test

One child advised to receive care for a hernia

One child advised to receive care for a scoliosis

One child advised to receive care for an ear condition

Six children advised to have a re-check blood pressure

The majority of these recommendations have been followed and assistance given. Families to arrange for needed care.

The program for care of the children's vision was carried on as in former years. The vision of the children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades were examined by an optometrist assisted by the nurse. The children in the remaining grades were examined by the teachers who used the Snellen eye chart. Any child found by the teacher to have difficulty is re-checked by the optometrist. Fifty-one were referred to their own practitioners for further investigation through notices sent to the parents of these children. Forty-two of these children received corrective care. Financial assistance was obtained for eight children to secure the recommended corrections.

The program of foot care was continued. Again the emphasis was placed on examination of the children in the grades selected for the other type of examinations. A podiatrist examined the children's feet and made his recommendations. The parents were notified of findings needing further treatment. Eighty-five per cent of children examined were found to need some help, although, this percentage seems high, and is in accordance with the national average. Parents have received this program with marked interest.

The program for prevention of tuberculosis and care for ones with tuberculosis was carried on, thinking of the child as a member of a family. Care was planned with relation to the effect of the condition on individuals in homes where tuberculosis existed. Fifty-nine children who lived in contact with tuberculosis patients were tuberculin tested. Nine of these children showed need for further care so arrangements were made for them to have chest x-rays. Also, arrangements were made for thirty-two children to have chest x-rays during the year. Routine tuberculin testing was offered in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades. This was in connection with the physical examination. Three hundred and sixty-one children were tested by the nurse. Eight of these were found to need x-rays.

Immunization and vaccination clinics were arranged for and attended by the nurse. The health officer was the doctor at these clinics. Three hundred eighty-four children received vaccination against smallpox. Two hundred thirty-four children from the sub-primary, first and second grades were inoculated against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus. The school nurse attended monthly clinics held for the pre-school age group.

A screening test was given for grading the hearing of each child. The group audiometer testing was done for children above the second grade level. Children in the lower grades were tested by observation and conversation between teacher and child. Here again we notified parents of any hearing loss found to be present in their child. Thirty children had some degree of hearing loss. Four of these children were known to be having care previous to the examination. Twenty-two were re-examined by their family physicians and help for condition was administered.

A program was begun for finding children in the beginning stages of diabetes. Urinalysis was done for detection of sugar in the body. A selected group of children were chosen for this study. The report of results chosen is not obtainable at present for we have not completed the survey. The purpose of this study is to lessen the severity of a diabetic condition by finding that there is need for treatment. This program was carried out under the supervision of the physician in charge of the routine physical examination.

Assistance was given to children, families, teachers and doctors in securing care for six crippled children. These children attend special clinics and have a certain type of treatment. The aim was to have them cared for so they would experience a well-adjusted life.

Children presenting behavior problems were studied and seven such children were presented to the nurse for consideration. Arrangements were made for two of these children to have care at the state psychiatric clinic and one to have examination at the Pownal State School. Forty-two visits were made to parents and teachers concerning this type child.

Special supervision of care was given to the twenty-five children who attended the Health Camp last summer. This group was selected because of a physical or mental disturbance. Constant follow-up care was given them so the principles of good living learned during the summer would be remembered. Close following of the family doctors orders was essential for these children and the nurse familiarized herself with these and assisted in carrying them out. Consequently, these children were able to have average attendance in school.

Material aid was dispensed and arranged for when needed and when brought to the nurse's attention. Fourteen children were assisted in obtaining needed clothing through the generosity of organized groups. Assistance was given the service clubs and organizations in their program for Christmas cheer for indigent children.

The teacher had a key position in the school nursing program. A folder with information pertaining to the program was provided for each class room. A meeting was held at the beginning of the school year with teachers of each school, explaining the purposes and plans of the nursing program.

A cumulative health record is kept for each child. Results of examinations and all physical data known to the school personel was transferred to this record.

The nurse kept in mind that the child is a member of a family. She presented to the parents pertinent information concerning the child's physical and mental well being. This information was secured through her own observation or on the advice of other professional helpers.

EDUCATION

Following is the total number of visits made during the past year:

Three hundred thirty-two visits to classrooms for consultations with teachers

Seventy-one home visits to ill school children

Two hundred and nine home visits for health education or to assist parents in obtaining correction of defects

Two hundred ninety-eight visits were made to the nurse's office by parents and children.

In conclusion, this service was so co-ordinated with other phases of the school health program that maximum care was insured for each child.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF EVENING SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit to you my report as principal of Sanford evening School for the year 1952.

Opening evening school November 3, 1952, which is one month later than in previous years, and continuing into February was very satisfactory. The effectiveness of the new plan was proved when all those in attendance before Christmas returned after a recess. In addition new members registered.

A class in shorthand was offered this year. This class was for those girls who had previous experience in shorthand and who wished a refresher course. This special course was very satisfactory.

This year, the same as last, we were unable to accommodate all those desiring to take the Driver Training Course. With only one instructor and one car the number enrolled in the class had to be limited.

The following subjects were given this year:

Americanization	Bookkeeping
Woodwork Arts and Crafts	Typewriting
Building Trades	Shorthand
Auto Mechanics	Comptometry
Red Cross First Aid	Cooking
Driver Training	Dressmaking
Adult Physical Education	Rug Making

The work accomplished in the various classes has been very gratifying. This can be attributed to teacher-pupil interest.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to you, to the teachers, to Goodall-Sanford, Inc., to the students, and to all others who helped to make Sanford Evening School successful.

Respectfully submitted,

ITHEL E. PRESCOTT,

Principal Sanford Evening School

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report as Supervisor of Art.

The major objective of the art program is that the mental conception of both teachers and parents be that of understanding the value of art as a developmental activity. There are those who still cling to the idea of "art for art's sake," rather than "art for the child's sake"; but they are becoming a small minority. The emphasis is on meaningful art education.

Child art, with the necessary encouragement, flourishes as a vehicle of growth. Those who have not yet become aware of its emotional and intellectual content, whether teacher or parent, are blinded to a stimulating experience. Children are gifted with an insight that is keen and often penetrating. They reveal unconsciously in their art expression, not surface impressions only, but rare and vital insights into our environment. Technically speaking, a painting is a record of human experience expressed through organized color, form, line, texture and space. However, the most important aspect is what the artist has to express. As the child matures emotionally and intellectually so should his art expression show more coherence, more organization, without losing the unconscious ability to tell us more than he could reveal orally or by means of the written symbol. The acquirement of the skills necessary for expression becomes secondary to the development and the fostering of every vestige of creative ability.

That our major objective is taking root is evidenced by the acceptance in recognition which the art of our schools receives when exhibited locally or shipped to far off shores. That our young people are able to share with other young citizens of our country in telling "the American story" can be a source of pride. The following countries now have drawings or paintings sent from Sanford through the Junior Red Cross International School Art Program: Argentina, Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, India, Indonesia, Iran, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, Norway, Philippines, Sweden, Venezuela, Yugoslavia and Trust Territories of the Pacific Islands. The Junior Red Cross is also doing much for the Togus Veterans' Hospital, our local hospital and Mountain View Town Farm in the way of favors and decorative nut cups for the various holidays.

A number of children from grade one to six inclusive, received ribbons and honorable mentions in both the local and State art contests sponsored by the American Association of University Women which were exhibited in Saco. This project requires completely original illustrations in water color or tempera paint emphasizing the State of Maine and its activities.

Both local libraries continue to sponsor their Bookweek poster contests in which Junior High School grades compete. This year most of the work was done with lettering pens and paint which showed to fine advantage their organization of line and space.

The High School art classes had an opportunity to be of service during the preparation of the huge classroom demonstration for Open House at the Memorial Gymnasium by lettering countless signs and painting decorative, and informative murals for every section. These are to be framed for classroom use. A recently completed project is that of the teachers' lunch room mural which is painted in a flat decorative manner across one entire wall. It depicts seven food products from their respective countries and costumed figures.

The art activity taking place daily in the various classrooms from Sub-primary through the eight grades reflects, as always, not only individual personal experiences but the way in which art permeates and enlivens the whole curriculum; it also indicates the gradual decline of the conditioning, authoritarian teaching methods of the past, which are being replaced by the scientific attitude. The teachers are eager to experiment with whatever educational methods seem best for child growth. This attitude supplies the child also with basic, problem solving concepts which he can use in all life experiences. To draw, paint, build or sculpt an experience is to live and solve the problems involved.

In closing, I should like to leave you with this most important thought, that everywhere within the school structure there is evidence of the scientific attitude which in itself, is significant of growth.

May I express to you, Mr. Sullivan, to the members of the School Committee, to Mr. Page and all school personnel, appreciation for your continued cooperation.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Supervisor of Art.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ELEMENTARY MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my report as Supervisor of Elementary Music.

The primary purpose of music education is to develop in the children a liking for and an understanding of music. It is not a course which is all embraced by the reading of music—more desirable is the fostering of the ability to enjoy it in all its aspects. Every child deserves the opportunity to become so well acquainted with music that an interest and enjoyment of it will play an active part in his mature life. We are training the citizens of tomorrow—of whom very few will become professional musicians—and because of this music has an opportunity to do its part toward the development of the child so that he may be helped to experience the fullness of life.

Music is a major means of communication which is capable of being used in ways that will give children better command of all their expressive actions. To this end singing is especially helpful, for it is a mode of expression that lies close to the personal interests and experiences of children.

In the primary grades the musical program is not solely vocal. The child's approach to the rhythmic content of music is in physical expression. A child who is clapping to the beat of a song, or running and skipping to a piece played on the piano or phonograph is gaining a finer sense of the expressive values of his own rhythmic movements. Motor responses in relation to singing, listening and playing create in children a sense of balance and freedom that leads to self-realization, which is the principal purpose of music in the education of our youth. Rhythm, listening, creative and recreational activities, all have a part in the musical life of the young child. The reading of the notes on the staff, like the reading of the words on the printed page, is introduced when the child has been carefully guided through the readiness activities and is musically adjusted to begin this phase of work.

In the intermediate and upper grades more time is spent on training the children to read music, but only as a means to the end. As soon as they can pick out the tune by themselves, the crutch can be thrown away and more time can be available for exploration in the other phases of music. Two part music is introduced at the fourth grade level through the use of rounds, and the formal instruction begins in the fifth grade. The sixth and seventh grades do more extensive work in two and three part music, and by the eighth grade the children are ready for the musical bridge which will carry them safely through the advanced training offered in the high school.

Sanford is fortunate in having twenty-two pianos in use in the elementary schools. Rhythm band instruments are available in all the primary grades and these play an important role in the rhythmic development of the children. Thanks to the Springvale P. T. A. Lincoln and Hamlin Schools now have new record players which were much needed and gratefully appreciated.

Last year at the Western Maine Music Festival the Emerson Girls' Glee Club received all A's—thanks to the able leadership of Mrs. Hayden. This year a project is underway to include the girls from the Hamlin School and thus form a combined group known as the Sanford Junior High School Glee Club. After the first of the year rehearsals will be regularly scheduled and those enrolled will have the opportunity to participate in the Festival in Brunswick next May. This will give the Springvale girls added social and educational benefits of group participation.

Last year it was my privilege to help in coordinating music with the physical education program at the Physical Education Demonstration at the stadium.

December 18th was the date of the annual Christmas program at the Lafayette School with a capacity audience enjoying the splendid work of both teachers and pupils. Much work went into this and the results were very gratifying.

Two operettas will be presented in the Spring. The Lincoln School will feature "Cinderella in Flowerland" and "The Magic Beanstalk" will be presented by the Lafayette School; both at the Memorial Gym. These performances give the children many educational and social opportunities not experienced in the classroom. Miss Harrison and Mr. Beals have graciously offered the cooperation of their departments; the former assisting in costumes and scenery; the latter with dances and staging.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to you, Mr. Sullivan, and to all school personnel for the cooperation and support which is making it possible for me to carry on this program in music education.

Respectfully submitted,

RUTH L. HARMON,

Supervisor of Elementary Music

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Many years of experience of working with boys and girls have confirmed my belief that physical education is an essential part of the school curriculum.

Based on the new knowledge of sociology, biology and psychology, physical education has been growing and evolving during the past thirty-five or forty years. New emphasis in physical education stresses the teaching, through intelligent leadership, of activities which have meaning and significance, which contribute to mental and emotional growth and aid in the development of desirable social characteristics and traits. Physical education in today's schools continues to change and to grow in response to these new emphases and the demands of our educational philosophy.

Educators are developing a better understanding of the fact that change is continuous and applies to all aspects of the person throughout life. Life might be said to be a series of changes, adaptations, and adjustments. Education is therefore possible and necessary. Manifestly we must promote the kind of education which fosters the most desirable and effective changes and adjustments in the individual and society.

In our concern for the physical education aspects of education we must understand the comprehensive nature of these changes and provide a program which makes the greatest possible contribution to the education of the total person. Clearly then, physical education should make some specific contributions to the development of the total individual, for example, the development of organic power and neuro-muscular skills. All muscular activity is the result of combined action of nervous and muscular systems. Through repeated, successful efforts connections are made, patterns are developed and increased facility of movements results. This development is the basis of physical skill and contributes to an adequate personality. Moreover, it should make contributions also to mental and emotional growth. All movement which is consciously directed toward an end in view involves a degree of mental activity. Physical education activities should provide many situations for such experience. Pupils tend to express feeling through big muscle movements. The emotions most closely allied with natural play activities are fundamental to successful group living.

EDUCATION

Up to the present generation, physical education has been provided by the types of environment in which a child grew up, and frequently prominent members of our society will disparage the present physical education program and for an all-concluding argument, will point to themselves as having managed to grow up without a gymnasium, a playground, or a play-teacher. Their argument is entirely sound as far as it goes in applying to themselves. What they forget is that times have changed. Today, school children do not have access to the chores that they extol so highly. The boys apprenticeship lacks the woodpile and other kindred sources of muscle building. The girls homemaking training does not include the many hours of toil with the corn broom and dust rag. Schools, therefore, must provide the opportunity of muscular activity, as well as to teach proper health habits to the entire group under its supervision. Physical educators must put into the curriculum the types of physical education that inculcates the habits of building up vital resistance.

The following statements are recommended as policies by the Society of State Directors of Health, Physical Education and Recreation. They are being disseminated widely, and all school people, recreation leaders and other citizens are urged to use the statements as guides to planning or evaluating a community's services to its children.

a. The best interests of all children are served when school and community give PRIORITY—in professional personnel, space and facilities, equipment and supplies, time and money—to a broad program of INSTRUCTION in physical education, based upon individual and group needs, for ALL boys and girls.

b. Next in consideration should be a broad and varied program of volunteer informal recreation for children of all ages and an interesting extensive program of intramural activities for boys and girls in upper elementary grades and above. "Intramural activities" means individual, dual and team sports with competition limited to contests between teams within the individual elementary or junior high school.

During the past fiscal year, the physical education supervisor has attempted to correlate the program with other school subjects and activities whenever possible. It was found that physical education, music, and the many public demonstrations of the elementary grades during the past year had a very high coefficient of correlation. Among these correlated efforts were the following:

The two operettas, two pageants, minstrel show, and radio show of the six elementary schools of Sanford and Springvale during the early spring;

EDUCATION

The combined graduation exercises of Hamlin and Emerson Junior High Schools in June;

The Physical Education Demonstration presented in October, at which forty-five grade-room units presented demonstrations of twenty-three different phases of the progressive physical education program of the Sanford-Springvale schools. This work, presented by the elementary classroom teachers, under the supervision of the physical education specialist, correlated the efforts of twelve hundred boys and girls from sub-primary to eighth grade, and was viewed by several hundred spectators. It is to become an annual event in the new memorial stadium.

Present programing includes preparation of two operettas to be presented in the near future.

Successful living in a democratic society depends not only upon the development of individuals but upon adequate adjustments of individuals in society. The adjustment of social standards to meet the needs of the times and the adjustment of individuals to these standards suggest a dual role for education in our society.

Ours has been called an "age of machines". The machine, not the man, does the work of the world. The increased leisure time brought about by shorter hours and a shorter working week has placed education in an significant position. It is the responsibility of the school to train adequately for wholesome living in leisure. Man must express himself in activity. If he has had the opportunity during his youth to develop skills in games and has had pleasant experiences in recreational activities it seems likely that he will seek to participate in those activities during his leisure time later in life. Hence the necessity of having a physical education program which will meet recreational as well as developmental needs.

The introduction of a more complete unit in social and square dancing in the upper four grades of the elementary department has made the several socials of the junior high schools have a much fuller meaning.

The volunteer Saturday morning classes at the Memorial Gymnasium are being continued during the winter months, with an average attendance of fifty at each of the three group sessions.

Elementary school athletics on a team basis is carried on by basketball and baseball teams in each of the three grammar schools and the two junior high schools. A combined football squad during the past season was undefeated in junior high competition. Track, a spring physical education activity in general class work as well as on a sport basis, found the two junior high schools finishing one-two in the local meet.

EDUCATION

For the first time, the Memorial Gymnasium was used throughout the vacation period in December. A total of four all-day sessions, and five half-day sessions were held for groups and individuals wishing to make use of these facilities. The average attendance at each of the group classes was fifty, with a total of 2,225 participant hours in the various activities offered. It is recommended that vacation use of the gymnasium be continued whenever possible.

I deem it a privilege to work for the citizens of the Town of Sanford, and for the opportunity of working so closely with the boys and girls in the public schools.

Respectfully submitted,

DONALD W. BEALS,

Supervisor of Physical Education

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1953

We, the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford and Village of Springvale, elected to serve you during the calendar year which ended on December 31, 1953, herewith submit a summary of our activities.

In our narrative report for the year 1952, we pointed out to the Warrant Committee and the Representative Town Meeting Members, the wide disparity in wages paid to the clerical help in the Selectmen's and Town Clerk's offices as compared to wages paid for similar work in local industry and business offices. We are happy to report that these inequities were removed by the Annual Town Meeting of 1953. At this time, we wish to commend the Warrant Committee and the Representative Town Meeting Members for rendering justice to these employees who had long been underpaid.

During the last week of July 1953, Sanford was hit with a most disastrous forest fire which burned over several thousand acres of forest land in the section of town commonly called South Sanford. Fire Departments from many communities in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts came to our assistance during this time of trial and peril. These fire fighting organizations remained in our midst for several days during this dangerous conflagration. During the course of this fire, the densely populated areas of our town were threatened many times, but thanks to the heroic efforts of our own fire departments and many other fire fighting organizations from communities near and far, and the hundreds of volunteers, no buildings were lost, but, a loss far beyond the value of any earthly property occurred when the oldest and beloved permanent fireman, Corydon Goodwin, known to all of us as Corey, lost his life fighting to prevent this fire from engulfing his fellowman and his earthly possessions. Our sympathy and that of all our townspeople goes out to his widow and family, and may we say to them that his memory will long live in the annals of fire fighters who have given their lives in the line of duty.

Local industrial conditions during the year 1953 were far from being healthy as it relates to employment and the general welfare of our community, but in spite of these unfavorable conditions, payment of taxes by our townspeople were very prompt, and the good record they have established for meeting their community obligations over the years, remains unmarred. It is to be hoped that the year 1954 will find management and labor, locally, resolving their differences, and that Sanford once more will be on the march forward to greater goals and to a better and greater Sanford.

The year 1953 saw your Municipal Officers bending all efforts and energies in the direction of attracting new industries to our community. Many firms were contacted, and the publicity which Sanford has received from these activities has let the industrial, commercial and business world know that we are a going and most virile entity. We firmly believe that these activities will, in the long run, pay dividends. Diversification is the sorely needed plasma for an industrial condition which, at any time, could well hold and have ominous portents for our community. May we assure you that we are not sleeping at the switch, that 1954 will find us working with redoubled energy and vigor in the direction of making this a more prosperous and better Town of Sanford. Continued effort on the part of all of us toward this objective will, sooner or later, have its rewards. Of this, let us all be prayerfully confident.

At the beginning of last December, open house was held at the new Municipal Infirmary. Hundreds, yea, several hundreds of our townspeople visited this new building, and saw for themselves what had been done in the most noteworthy project which the Town of Sanford has ever undertaken in behalf of the aged and sick of our municipality. They witnessed a building fitted to the needs of the less fortunate in the family we like to call America. A few days before Christmas, the aged and the sick were moved into this new building, and may we say that their countenances truly radiated the spirit of the Holy Season.

In closing, we wish to thank the townspeople for having had the opportunity of serving them. We also wish to thank every municipal department for the fine cooperation they have given us, and last, but not least, may we thank the clerical staffs in all the municipal offices for the fine and efficient work they have done.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE,
THOMAS A. MEUNIER,
ARTHUR M. CARIGNAN,

Selectmen of Sanford, Maine

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Sanford, Maine
December 31, 1953

To the Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford, Maine
Gentlemen:

The Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1953:

The equipment is in very good condition. The Maxim pumper is now 25 years old. This truck does not have four wheel brakes and in present day traffic it is very dangerous to operate. We hope in the near future the Town of Sanford will allow us to dispose of this dangerous truck and replace same with a new one.

The new fire alarm system installed this last summer is one of the best that money can buy.

There is a lot of outside work to be done replacing old bare wire. This kind of wire is very bad for our new system. Every storm we get we have trouble with outside wire in the form of grounds and breaks. This increases the load on our new system. New wire will stop this. However, due to a cut in Fire Department appropriation much of this vital work will not be done.

The new floor for the Fire Station has not been installed as yet. We sincerely hope this will be done this coming summer as the present one is in very bad condition.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Selectmen, the Springvale Fire Department, the Police Department, Highway Department, Central Maine Power Company, and the New England Tel. & Tel. Co., and all departments in the Town of Sanford.

We wish also to express our appreciation to the citizens of Sanford and Springvale and surrounding towns for their help during the forest fire at South, Sanford this past summer.

Respectfully submitted,

ALMON H. STACKPOLE, Chief

CHARLES C. CHADBOURNE, 1st Asst.

HAROLD W. CLARK, 2nd Asst.

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF BOARD OF ENGINEERS OF THE SPRINGVALE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Sanford, Maine
December 31, 1953

To the Honorable Board of Selectmen
Town of Sanford

Dear Sirs:

The fire station and equipment are in excellent condition.

We expect the new tank truck that is to replace Engine No. 3 which was lost in the Sanford fire will be in commission about the first of April.

In spite of the severe forest fires this past year you will note no buildings or lumber yards were lost, although a good many were threatened.

We feel the greatest single fire hazard existing in town today is and will be for the next few years at least, danger from forest and brush.

We strongly approve the removal of rubbish in town as it certainly helps eliminate one of the greatest of building fire hazards and should be continued.

We made 736 building inspections this year.

As well as having our regular department drills, as mentioned in the clerk's report, we also held special pumper drills and schools for officers and interested call men.

We take this opportunity to thank the Selectmen, the Sanford Fire Department, Highway and Police Departments for their cooperation and assistance. Also the oil companies for the use of their tank trucks as water carriers during the forest fires, incidently at no cost to the town

Respectfully submitted,

WINFIELD C. TRAFTON, Chief

ARTHUR E. ALLEN, Asst.

REPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

To the Chairman of the Board of Selectmen:

I hereby submit my report of activities of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency for 1953.

In January we completed the construction of the Ground Observation Post on the roof of the Town Garage on Witham Street. The operation of this post was initiated with a group of Nasson College students as observers as well as local citizens.

On February 1 we participated with Civil Air Patrol in a simulated search for downed aircraft and personnel in the Abbott Mountain area of Shapleigh. March 15 the Communications Division assisted Cumberland County Civil Defense in a County alert.

From March 28 to April 1 our units were called to Saco to help in their flood disaster. It was here that the hours of training and practice proved their value in aiding a neighboring community in an actual emergency. Our Communications unit was on duty 72 hours and the reserve firemen and police rendered welcome assistance in evacuation and traffic control.

On May 28 and June 18 alerts were held on a town-wide basis. Public cooperation was beyond our expectations.

From July 31 through August 5 we assisted our Sanford and Springvale fire chiefs and the State Forestry Service in our local forest fires. There were nearly 600 volunteers on duty at various times. The supporting agencies, the American Legion, the American Red Cross, the Salvation Army, and the Maine Extension Service did a yeoman job under hazardous conditions feeding personnel right up to the fire lines. The Maine Wing Civil Air Patrol provided air observation facilities as well as operator and equipment relief to our radio units. The Auxiliary Police and the Air Raid Wardens helped maintain traffic lanes for the speedy passage of equipment and personnel.

Your former director, Clarence E. Hartley, resigned on November 30 to accept the directorship of York County.

We express our appreciation for the help of all members of the organization who have discharged their duties so admirably under actual disaster conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

A. ALLAN HORNE,

Director of Sanford Civil

REPORT OF HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1953

To the Selectmen, Town of Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The following is a report of the activities of the Health Department during the year ending December 31, 1953.

The annual vaccinations and inoculations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis were given to children from public and parochial schools when their parents consented to this immunization.

Sanford's Well Baby Clinic, now solidly established, was continued on the third Thursday of every month. Attendance at the clinic (held at the Congregational Church), was even higher last year than in 1952. This was evidenced by the greatly reduced number of school children who had received no inoculations in their pre-school period.

The number of contagious diseases reported in 1953 was slightly higher than in the previous year. Measles cases, however, dropped several hundred per cent. Chickenpox and mumps were prevalent during late fall and early winter months. Attacks were mild and of short duration. No sequelae to these diseases were reported. As always, the totals represent only a portion of all infectious diseases contracted in Sanford and Springvale, because many persons either do not remember to report them, or do not consider the action necessary. Again we wish to impress upon residents and physicians of the town that this information is valuable to the Health Department in its prevention program.

Dr. Kenneth J. Kornetsky continued his practice of giving eye examinations to children of Sanford's grade schools.

House calls, office visits, and hospital visits were made to give treatment to patients in the welfare and old age assistance fields. This service entailed trips to Acton, Shapleigh, and Lebanon rest homes, in addition to visits to Mountain View Infirmary.

Complaints involving nuisances, plumbing law infractions, and actions against town ordinances concerning the keeping or raising of livestock within town limits were investigated and dealt with as they were received.

Tuberculosis cases were investigated whenever individual problems arose.

Congratulations must be offered to Miss Helen Beattie, RN, Sanford's Welfare Nurse, the Community Health Department nurses, and Mrs. Elwin Holland of Mountain View Farm, for their excellent work throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, Health Officer

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The following is the report of public health nursing activities participated in by the nurses of The Community Health Association. This report is a summary of a year's program designed for (1) rendering nursing service to the ill and (2) providing an educational service to prevent illness.

This work is under the direction of a group of volunteer citizens, who serve as directors of The Community Health Association, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Maine. Monthly meetings are held, and the policies of the work are outlined by this group.

The nurses employed by the Association are graduate, professional nurses prepared to give care as needed to the individual. All nursing care is rendered under the supervision of the attending physician.

The work is supported by volunteer contributions, by a town appropriation, and by fees for service. The Sanford Health Camp, a summer-time project, receives its support from funds raised through the Community Chest Drive.

The results of this nursing program are submitted to you under three classifications:

I. Service for bedside nursing care and nursing care to ambulatory patients. 1,521 visits were made to patients for the purpose of giving baths, changing dressings, and giving special treatments and injections.

II. Combination service of bedside nursing care and health education.

1. Tuberculosis preventive program.

1,067 visits made to tuberculosis patients, suspects and contacts. These visits included bedside nursing care; giving injections; arranging for admission to the sanatorium; arranging for chest x-rays at clinics; reporting to patients and doctors results of x-rays; and instructive visits explaining prevention of tuberculosis and the care necessary for those infected.

2. Program involving cancer patients.

95 visits to patients with cancer, including stimulating patients with an arrested condition to visit their doctors periodically for examinations. Nursing care was given in addition.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

3. Diabetic care and prevention program.

89 visits were made to diabetic patients for instruction in technique giving insulin; instruction in personal hygiene; assisting with diets as ordered by the doctor; and nursing care.

4. Pre-natal care program.

104 visits to pre-natal patients, including instruction for care during this period.

5. Program involving patients with a crippled condition.

50 visits to crippled individuals made possible arranging attendance at clinics and interpreting to patients and families care as advised by specialists.

6. Program with well babies and pre-school children.

The nurses had 1,070 conferences with patients concerning the normal development of the pre-school child.

7. Communicable disease control.

72 home visits made to this type patient and care varied according to the disease.

8. Cardiac classification.

24 visits were rendered to individuals with heart trouble and doctors' orders carried out as stated.

III. Organized group activities.

1. Chest clinics.

Arrangements were made for 297 individuals to have chest x-rays at clinics held bi-monthly at the Goodall Hospital. A Community Health Association nurse attended the clinics, assisted with clinic procedure, and reported to doctor and patient the results of the x-rays.

2. Sanford Health Camp at Highpine.

Continuous seven weeks' care was given to 30 children of school age. These children were those referred for care by physicians because of physical or emotional difficulties.

3. Immunization clinics.

10 immunization clinics were attended and assistance given the Health Officer. 86 pre-school children were vaccinated against small-pox and 401 injections were given for prevention of diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough.

4. Educational display for diabetics.

The nurses assisted with and attended the exhibit for diabetics held in the Town Hall during Diabetic Week.

In addition to the above program, assistance was rendered to people needing help with individual problems. These visits are of a social service type and in behalf of an individual; 80 such contacts were made during the year.

In conclusion, we have endeavored to carry on a cooperative program under the supervision of our Association directors, planned and executed by our nurses, and received with helpful results by our citizens. The work of The Community Health Association is an aggregate of these three groups.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD T. HANSCOM, President
The Community Health Association

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The activities of the Park Commission during the year 1953 have been limited somewhat, but the progress and development very gratifying.

Twenty-five 3-5 foot nursery grown shade trees were set out in various sections of the town. Spraying this year was confined to the elm trees to combat the Dutch elm disease and other leaf-eating insects.

A children's wading pool was constructed at the Carpentier Park on High Street in the early spring, and was enjoyed very much during the warm days of summer.

The attendance at the playgrounds this year was about 14,000.

Approximately 300 feet of rough road bed was graded on the William O. Emery Memorial Drive this year. Adjoining this area for a distance of about 250 feet, the curb, walk and grassed area was completed ready for landscaping.

The Park Commission extends its appreciation to all those who have so faithfully cared for and protected the trees and shrubs that have been planted.

"Through Your Park Commission, A More Beautiful Sanford."

Respectfully submitted,

RAYMOND Y. LORD, Chairman

CHARLES BLOUIN, Secretary

ROLAND LANGLOIS

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1953 fiscal year it is a pleasure to report on the status of our public school system in Sanford.

The phrases "good schools" and "the best schools in Maine" used so often in referring to the public schools of Sanford by visitors to Sanford, by parents, by interested citizens, and by visiting educators have been used time and again during the past year.

Good schools, such as ours, don't just happen. They develop through the active cooperation of the school staff, the school committee, parents and other citizens in the community.

During the three years that it has been my privilege to serve as superintendent, it has been most gratifying to see the steady progress we have been making toward worthwhile educational goals.

The year just closed bore notable evidence that we are doing a better job along these lines:

1. Teaching of the fundamental skills in Reading, Mathematics, Science, History, and Geography, Language and other related subjects.
2. Identification of the needs, interests and capacities of all the children, young people, and adults who are in our schools.
3. Study and modification of the curriculum to provide for individual differences and vitalizing instruction in the fundamental subject fields as tools for helping youth to understand our ever-changing complex world.
4. Creation of better physical environment for instruction through improved maintenance of school buildings.
5. Acquisition and use of instructional equipment (text-books and supplies) suitable for the wide range of individual differences existing in every classroom and consistent with the findings of educational research.

EDUCATION

6. Provision for better working conditions for the staff through (a) an improved salary schedule, (b) more nearly adequate school facilities and instructional equipment, (c) broader base of participation in school administration so that insofar as possible, all who have a vital stake in the success of the educational program may share in cooperative planning and decisions, (d) realistic evaluation of pupil progress in terms of all relevant factors.
7. Closer school-community relationships so that every Sanford citizen understands the program being offered in our schools and the problems facing public education in the community.

Before discussing the educational program I would like to point out that in reviewing the results of a year it is impossible to do so without remembering that it takes the energy, initiative and loyal spirit of able people working together with mutual respect and helpfulness to accomplish what the Sanford schools have achieved during 1953. The necessary funds and facilities have been supplied, but teachers, directors and administrators have done the job. I feel that the citizens of Sanford have every reason to be proud and that the entire staff deserves warmest congratulations for their accomplishments during the year just past.

Studying The Needs And Capacities Of Pupils

Teachers have always known that pupils of the same age differ in maturity, capacity and achievement. But the extent of variability and its significance to the individual and to society were never fully realized until valid and reliable objective test results gave more exact evidence of the extent and nature of the variability.

Despite the wide spread of abilities, the functions of the school continues to be the development of personal, civic and vocational-economic competence of every individual according to his potential so that he will accept responsibility for the stability and progress of himself and society.

It is the first business of the school to see that pupils master the fundamentals of an education, but this goal can be achieved only to the extent that the nature and range of differences among children are identified and that the educational program, including methods and materials of instruction, is adjusted to the rate and pattern of growth among the children in the schools.

During the past year the faculties of elementary, secondary and vocational schools administered tests of intelligence (all grade school children), aptitude and achievement in all the skill subjects. As a result the slow-learning pupil—the average and the gifted child is discovered as well as the apparently bright youngsters who were not achieving at the level of expectancy for their mental ability.

A cumulative record card has been devised and all pertinent information on the individual pupil is at the finger tips of every classroom teacher.

Through many means, individual and group conferences (held monthly), exhibits of instructional materials, committees on book selection, in-service training for teachers, and workshops devoted to curriculum problems, the teachers of Sanford have studied the needs of individual pupils and, at present, they are evaluating the course of studies being offered to your children in an attempt to better meet the need of each and every child in our public school system.

Building Channels To Good Citizenship

Today citizenship has become a basic field of development in our Sanford schools for boys and girls of all age groups. Students are being taught now, through meaningful experiences in the classroom, and on field trips in the community, an understanding of what comprises civic competence in preparation for their thoughtful participation in the affairs of their local community—their state—and their country. Every attempt is being made to make learning so flexible that it will become a continuous process to be carried on as a worthy habit long after school days are over.

The teaching of United States history, United States government, lives of great Americans, is emphasized at all grade levels.

An important goal in the development of good citizens is that of learning how to get on with other people, hence, our classrooms and the activities throughout our school programs are constantly enhancing a sound understanding among our youth, so that they may better serve themselves and their neighbors by knowing how to appreciate and work with one's fellow men.

Thinking about the future, learning something about the major occupations, labor and business, knowing and developing individual skills and capacities are all a part of the business of getting ready to face challenges that come when school days no longer call them back. Building and cementing home ties, respecting the deep and abiding faiths of people, discovering constructive hobbies and interests—all these have their place in building a program of good citizenship in our schools and making better citizens of our Sanford children.

THE CHURCH

THE EDUCATIONAL TRIANGLE

Curricular and Extra-Curricular

Not so long ago some people thought of the curriculum as the contents of a particular course of study, others thought of it as a student's individual schedule of subjects, and still others thought of it as the all-inclusive picture of the academic work of the school system. "What kind of a curriculum (or program) do the schools offer?" they would say. They even went so far as to think their contents could be exchanged with other schools and communities and readily copied to fit any system.

Today, forward looking people think of the curriculum as consisting of all the experiences, both inside and outside the classroom which children have under the administration of the school. Putting it another way, what young people learn in school is the curriculum. This means that art, music, physical education, drama, all are part of the total program and all a part of the curriculum.

As the superintendent of schools, I cannot overlook my responsibility for the critical evaluation of all school activities whatever they may be, or wherever in the scope of the school they may take place—in terms of their educative aspects.

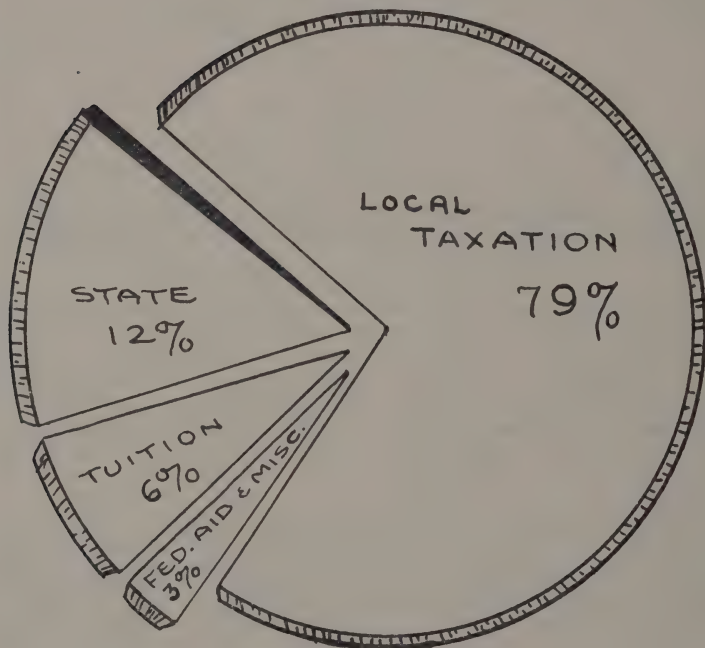

I believe that the school should assume responsibility for an activity only when it is proven to be a desirable educational experience, when no other organization can adequately handle it, and when it is within the range of the ability of taxpayers to support. An example of this type activity would be "Driver Training".

In the final analysis, the kind of curriculum maintained and its eventual success depend upon the individual teacher, who understands the goals and ideals set up for the system by all those who are concerned with our schools—the teacher who leads and guides his students through meaningful experiences and activities in realizing the accomplishment of those objects.

The negligible rate of juvenile delinquency in this community can be traced directly to the influence of the home, the church and the school. Sanford citizens should be justly proud of the record of their young people.

WHERE YOUR SCHOOL DOLLAR COMES FROM 1953

Financial

It is a pleasure to report at the close of the 1953 fiscal year that your school department closed their books with a balance of $1,469.28. This was accomplished despite a record school enrollment and increasing cost of all school textbooks, services and supplies. Only by judicious spending—careful supervision by your school committee—and the help and cooperation of the school staff was this accomplished.

HOW YOUR SCHOOL DOLLAR IS SPENT 1953

School Enrollment

In reporting to you in 1952, I gave you detailed facts and figures pertaining to the enrollment in our public schools. I tried not to over-estimate the seriousness of the situation. The facts and figures presented in 1952 were proven to be correct when school opened in September 1953. It was necessary to hold double sessions in both the Longfellow and Edison Schools and a record number of forty-five (45) youngsters reported at the Lafayette School. In Springvale over fifty (50) new faces appeared and it was necessary to employ a second sub-primary teacher.

Birth statistics available in the Town Clerk's office tell the story. More babies are being born in Sanford than ever before. For the past several years between 400 and 500 new births have been recorded annually. A study of past enrollment in our public and parochial school indicates that slightly over 50% of this group will enroll in a public school. Assuming that the number over 200 can be handled in the Hawthorne School it becomes necessary to house 200 new children yearly at the Lafayette, Longfellow, Edison and Lincoln Schools. Unfortunately the necessary space is just not available. In September, 1954, there will be no available space for sub-primary students in either the Edison or Longfellow Schools. It will be necessary to move the fourth grade students from the Lincoln to the Hamlin to make room for the Springvale sub-primary group. The last available room will be used at the Lafayette School.

The School Committee received help at your December Town Meeting when members raised and appropriated $30,000 to start construction of a new Vocational School and to convert the present school into classrooms for the entering sub-primary class in September, 1954.

This work is going on at the present time and classrooms will be available for all children (sub-primary on half day session) when school opens in September, 1954.

The problem will become more serious in 1955 and, fortunately, your Town Meeting Members named a School Building Committee to work with your School Committee to study the problem and make both definite and specific recommendations on this problem.

New Vocational School

A new home must be provided for our Vocational School boys with the conversion of the present school for elementary classrooms.

The boys will complete much of the work as part of their building-trade experience. At the present time they are salvaging building materials from ten (10) buildings at the Sanford Airport released to the School Department by United States Government officials.

Actual construction of the building will start in the spring of 1954 in the vicinity of Main and Hoyt Streets. The project will take several years to complete with the boys and their instructors doing the work as money and materials are made available for the project.

Conclusion

It is fitting, and I must add very pleasant, to acknowledge publicly indebtedness to the School Board, the school staff and the entire community for their individual and collective support of my efforts to improve the quality of public education in our town.

Many civic organizations, individual laymen and the local and state newspapers have assisted by informing the public of what the schools are doing. Their help is deeply appreciated.

It is, therefore, with deep appreciation of each and all of these individuals and groups that I acknowledge their contribution to the cooperative endeavor of providing improved education for Sanford's young people.

EDUCATIONREPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDING SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Citizens of Sanford:

Throughout the past year the School Committee has continued the policy of keeping the public informed of the activities, problems, accomplishments, and also of the needs and plans for the future, of the school system of your town. This was done through the newspapers, through Know-your-Schools programs and publications, through addresses by the Superintendent before various gatherings, and through the visits by groups or individuals to the school office or to school board meetings. It is customary however to review annually in the Town Report what the School Committee has been doing during the previous twelve months. The report of the Superintendent provides most of the detailed information about the schools and it need not be repeated here.

During 1953 the School Committee held 12 regular monthly meetings, with one added adjourned session; and also there were seven special meetings. These meetings lasted from a couple of hours to as long as five hours. Items of business considered ran in number from half a dozen to as many as twenty for a single meeting. Conferences and consultations are frequent especially during the school months.

Perhaps one of the most important acts of the past year was the extending of the term of the Superintendent's contract for an extra three years on the same salary. This provided added stability for the system, and assurance to the schools, the teachers and the superintendent, of the continuance of the progress and strength of the system. Another important factor in the success of our schools is the high morale and low turn-over of the teaching staff. This in turn is the result of a democratic and considerate treatment of the teachers in all matters, including salaries, curriculum planning, administrative policy, etc.

The work of the school committee may be considered two fold. There are the financial or prudential policies and decisions to be made, which take a great deal of the time and energies of the committee. For example there were the questions of milk sales in the schools, coal and oil purchases, bread deliveries, budget economy possibilities, increase in tuition rates, salary schedule revision and equalization, fire insurance coverage limits, etc. Each of these matters involved conflicting considerations which could not be overlooked and which had to be accepted and compromised as far as could be done.

EDUCATION

The other part of the school committee function dealt with school and educational policies, and although this also took much time and consideration, it represents the most important of the functions of the school committee and increasingly more attention will have to be given to it.

Some matters cannot be classified as wholly prudential or wholly educational. There is often an overlapping or mingling of the two functions. For example there were the questions concerning Driver Training Program, salary schedule, substitute teachers' pay rates, evening school courses to be taught, proportion of emphasis on different parts of the curriculum, elimination of the special supervisor for hand-writing.

On the other hand there were some questions considered which were almost entirely educational policy questions, for example, collections for charities in the schools, Good Friday closing, Bible distribution in the schools, relations to schools of outside "booster" organizations, whether teachers may teach part time in other school systems, etc. Many other such policy questions were also considered and many more remain. In order to provide a greater degree of certainty and consistency in school policy the committee has started work on a written code of educational and administrative policies. It is hoped that this will be one more strengthening factor in the relations of the system with its members and with the public which supports and maintains our schools.

EDUCATIONREPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools

Dear Sir:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

Enrollment as of October 1 was 619.

This school year should mark the completion of a current study of the Sanford High curriculum. Teachers, individually and by groups, are reviewing and revising philosophies, working on aims and objectives to be achieved in their teaching and on courses of study.

Scholarship has, during the past year, remained at the usual satisfactory level. Another student has recently been accepted by the NROTC after passing the highly competitive exams. Early reports from colleges indicate that the Sanford High graduates enrolled there will show excellent achievement. Our graduates are now attending Harvard, Wellesley, Smith, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Brown, Bowdoin, Colby, Tufts, Williams, Ohio State University, University of New Hampshire, University of Maine, Michigan State, Northeastern University, Babson, Rochester Institute of Technology, Boston University, Lasell Junior College, Fisher Junior College, Colby Junior College, Nasson, Nichols Junior College, Bentley's, Gordon College, Gorham State Teachers College, Wabash, Wentworth Institute, Maine Vocational Technical Institute, and others.

There have been several faculty changes since a year ago. Miss Fuller, an exceptional teacher and head of the Commercial Department, retired from the profession in June and Mrs. Doris Conners from Cape Elizabeth High School, a teacher of long and successful experience, took her place. It is evident that the Commercial Department will continue to be outstanding in York County.

Mrs. Miriam Moody, a secondary school teacher prior to teaching at the Emerson School, was transferred to the high school and has entered on her work with ability and enthusiasm.

Mr. George Reid has been added to the Science Department in the position vacated by Mr. Joseph Collins and has shown himself to be an excellent instructor. Mr. Alfred

EDUCATION

Nicholson, though inexperienced, is adapting himself readily and shows real promise as a teacher.

During the past year, improvements and extensions have been made on the stadium at the rear of the gymnasium. Regular football practice was not allowed on the playing field and as a result the turf has had a better chance to develop. Trees and bushes have been cut on the south end of the playing field where another football practice field will be located. It is expected that a track will soon be built around the field. The Stadium Club, in its effort to help the youth of the town, deserves the full support of everyone.

Sanford High continues to have one of the outstanding physical education courses in New England. Apparatus work, marching, gymnastics, and group games all help to build stronger and more agile boys and girls.

Sanford High is, at present, in the throes of defeat in all boys' varsity sports. However, the presence of strong freshman teams means better varsity teams soon and prospects for the future seem reasonably bright. Even during continued defeat the boys have exhibited sportsmanship and effort and have thereby learned valuable lessons.

Indoor Track has been instituted under the tutelage of Coach Nicholson. This should give impetus to Spring Track and, consequently, an opportunity to more boys for competition and the chance to enjoy the many values of a fine sport.

The intra-mural program for boys and girls continues to operate successfully under the direction of Mr. Justin Nunan and Miss Catherine Stulb. Under this system, all boys and girls are given a chance to compete as members of organized teams.

The decision to build a new Vocational School building near the high school should result in a more closely integrated school. The practical experience the boys will receive while helping in the actual building process, will be of inestimable value. Very few students in vocational schools in Maine are getting this "on the job" experience.

Music, with its important carry-over value, continues to be important as a co-curricular activity. The Glee Club is now working on its annual operetta—"The Pirates of Penzance." At the Western Maine Festival last spring the group received a top rating, a tribute to the excellent work of the director, Mrs. Agnes Tibbetts. The Glee Club Parents group has been of great value and deserves commendation.

The Band has continued its fine performance, putting on excellent drills at football games, playing for school assemblies and various town activities and receiving high rating under Mr. Firth and Mr. Arnold at the Western Maine and New England Festivals.

The Band Boosters are very active, giving aid at concerts, raising money to help defray expenses for uniforms, festivals, etc. One of the best attended concert festivals in years was held in January in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Contrary to popular opinion, there is little if any conflict between Band and Athletics as a band member may compete in athletics in season and be an active member of the band at other times.

In any high school we find a wide divergence in aptitudes and capacities. Sanford High has, through the years, recognized this and has built its curriculum accordingly with provisions for individual differences. While attending the University of Michigan during the past summer I had the opportunity to talk to many principals and teachers from the Middle West—many from schools several times as large as Sanford High—Flint, Ann Arbor, Lansing, Detroit, and others. The impression I received was that, thanks to the people who support our schools, thanks to a very forward looking Superintendent and School Board and an excellent faculty—we are now providing for our students here at Sanford as broad an education as is in existence in that section of the country. I am certainly proud of this fact and happy that Sanford feels the education of its children is a real investment in the future of its town.

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF EVENING SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit to you my report as principal of Sanford Evening School for the year 1953-54.

Evening school opened November 3, 1953, and will close February 16, 1954. This year the enrollment was larger than the previous year.

The addition of two classes in 1953, machine shop and upholstery, has proven very satisfactory. A great deal of interest has been shown in these classes. Very excellent work has been turned out.

The large enrollment in the comptometer class necessitated having classes four nights a week.

This year, by a vote of the students, evening school was in session two nights per week from 7:00-10:00 p. m. instead of three nights from 7:00-9:00 p. m. This change proved very satisfactory.

Three new teachers were added to the faculty—Carl Lamb, machine shop; Helen Boyce, comptometry and Orrin Saunders, upholstery.

Because of the changing of working hours it was necessary to close two classes early this year.

The seriousness of those attending evening school this year has been very gratifying to me. This can be attributed to teacher-pupil interest and understanding.

In conclusion, I wish to express my appreciation to you, to the members of the School Committee, to the teachers, to the Goodall-Sanford, Inc., to the students, and to all others who helped make Sanford Evening School successful.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ELEMENTARY MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my report as Supervisor of Music.

Music education is not merely the teaching of music. It is also the relating of music to human life, and the promoting of its use and enjoyment. A music program not only contributes to the growth of each individual child, but it becomes an integral part of the community life.

While singing is the basic core of the music program, it does not give the children a rich and complete musical experience without the related activities of listening, playing, dancing, and creating. Singing is the musical expression of all children, but the development of well-rounded musicianship depends on all five activities. Listening is the part of hearing which becomes the very center of musicianship. It is a basic need in music whether for musical enjoyment, ear training, or learning rote songs. Playing develops muscular coordination and rhythmic feelings by the actual manipulation of instruments. Rhythmic activities constitutes another form of physical response. In an ensemble performance, from solo singing with accompaniment, through group and class singing, to intricate instrumental combinations, rhythm is vital. A wrong note will not destroy an ensemble, but inaccurate rhythm makes it impossible to keep the group together. Power to express rhythm must be developed along with the ability to sense clearly the notation of rhythmic patterns. Creative activities enable the child to give expression to personal musical initiative—the complete and wholehearted identification of one's whole self with a musical activity.

The singing activity itself is divided into two classes—rote and note. Rote singing (by imitation) is used exclusively in the lower grades, but not discontinued entirely at the beginning of note singing. A readiness program for note reading is begun by the end of the first year of school, and the formal instruction in the reading of music is introduced in the second grade, and continued throughout the rest of the elementary grades until the class has reached the point where they can sing a song without this "crutch". It is very gratifying to have a class that can be introduced to a new song, and with a minimum of errors, sing it with the words the first time.

Part music is started in the fourth grade by use of rounds—a means of getting the children to hear two different tones at the same time, but still stay on their own part. Formal instruction is begun in the fifth grade and is exclusively two part, but by the end of the sixth grade most classes are ready to try three parts at the same time. In the seventh and eighth grades the children sing unison, two, and three part music.

The Sanford-Springvale Junior High School Glee Club was organized January 29, 1953, with seventh and eighth grade girls from Hamlin and Emerson having regularly scheduled rehearsals in preparation for the festival in Brunswick in May. This group of thirty voices received first division rating. Mrs. Louise Hayden is the assistant director and accompanist. They sponsor socials at both schools to help defray expenses for new music and whatever other expenses occur during the year.

Three operettas were received very highly this past year, produced by the following schools: Lincoln, Lafayette, and Emerson. The Longfellow School has started rehearsing for "Kathleen" to be staged around St. Patrick's Day.

Two pianos have been added to our elementary classrooms, one given to the Longfellow School to be used in the fifth grade, and one loaned by Mrs. Butler for use in her classroom. This brings the total to twenty-four in use at the present time.

In conclusion, I wish to thank you, Mr. Sullivan, and all school personnel for the cooperation and support which is making it possible for me to carry on this program in music education.

SCHOOL NURSING REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1953

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The nursing program was conducted to accomplish, with the school age group, desired objectives of public health nursing. These objectives are (1) to protect and improve the individual child's physical and emotional health (2) to help the child become conscious of his or her own responsibility in keeping well and (3) to provide a consultation service for parents and teachers.

Specific activities were considered to carry out the first objective. The program for prevention of contagion came in this classification.

Immunization clinics were held for children in the sub-primary and first grades. 178 children were vaccinated against small-pox and 330 received immunization injections for diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. The health officer attended these clinics assisted by the school nurse.

The state law for school attendance of children after a contagious disease or if there is contagion in the family, was interpreted to parents and teachers. Teachers were given a copy of the law, slips for use if necessary to exclude a child, and a summary of important facts concerning communicable disease. Sub-primary children were given copies of our contagious control routine and these were brought home for the parents' information.

Also, in connection with the prevention of contagion program, patch tuberculin testing was offered to students in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades. 475 children were patch tested and 12 were found to need immediate chest x-rays. Arrangements were made for x-rays for these children and care given as indicated. Also, during the year, arrangements were made for 109 children who are tuberculosis contacts to be x-rayed at the clinics held at the Goodall hospital.

Twenty-two visits were given to children in their homes for instruction to parents at the time of contagious disease.

Various examinations helped us obtain our first objective. Children in the sub-primary, fourth and seventh grades were chosen for these examinations.

A podiatrist examined the individual child and made recommendations for care after noting feet, type of shoe and stocking worn and any condition deviating from normal. A large percentage of children were found to need care but the national average for deviations is high. Parents were notified of recommendations made by the podiatrist.

EDUCATION

Another type of examination was that given by an optometrist for a visual survey of children in the above grades. Children believed to have difficulty by teacher observation were examined also. Thirty of these children received corrective care.

The physical examinations usually given the first of the school year were postponed until January, 1954, so a report of findings is not complete.

A screening test was given for grading the hearing of each child. Group audiometer testing was done for children above the second grade level. Twenty-nine children had some degree of hearing loss. Parents were notified of the hearing loss present in their child. Twenty-one were re-examined by their family physicians or ear specialists and care recommended.

Urinalysis for detection of sugar in the urine was done on children in the fourth and seventh grades. This program is to detect diabetes in its early stages. Three hundred and twenty children had the test and five were referred to their doctors for further study.

Assistance was given to families and doctors in securing care for children needing special treatment. In this group were seven crippled children, three children with heart disease, five emotionally disturbed children, two deaf children, two children mentally below normal and ten children with various conditions. Eighty-two visits were made to parents, teachers and doctors in arranging care for these children.

Special supervision of care during the school year was given to the thirty children who attended the Health Camp last summer. These children are physically and emotionally in need of help and close follow-up care is essential.

The second objective was touched upon whenever personal or group contact was made with the children. At the time of these different examinations, surveys, tests and home visits instruction was passed on to the child concerning his responsibility in this program. A concentrated nursing program helped make the child conscious of his health in a positive and sensible way.

The differentiation between looking for signs of illness in a morbid way, and preventing illness by constructive program was accomplished through this second objective.

The third objective, a consultation service for parents and teachers was offered whenever a problem arose pertaining to an individual child. This service was included in carrying on all phases of the work. The child was considered as a member of a family, so a family health service often became part of the daily work.

The total number of visits made during the past year were:

281 to classrooms for consultations with teachers.

72 to ill school children.

199 to homes of children for consultation with parents.

286 were made to the nurse's office by parents and children.

In conclusion, the school nursing service made possible for the child to possess a knowledge of healthy living by experiencing specific programs.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Neil V. Sullivan

Dear Sir:

It is my privilege to again submit an annual report of the physical education activities in the public schools of Sanford and Springvale.

The successful physical education program must be something more than a play program. It must provide opportunity for pupil enjoyment through developmental growth activities. It must also provide for very definite progression in the assignment of activities to each grade age level. Responsibility for the program lies with the classroom teacher, under the direct supervision of the specialist in the field of physical education. The teacher, therefore, must help her pupil to understand that time devoted to physical education is a valuable part of total education. Individual needs should be the final measuring stick.

One of the most important factors influencing the physical education program is the age grouping, since personal interests and abilities are determined largely by the child's age. The pre-school child plays very much to himself; he can well entertain himself alone. The elementary school child is more gregarious; he wants company for his pursuits. The secondary school groups prefer games requiring skill and achievement.

The sub-primary child is just beginning to learn to play with others. Fatigue comes quickly. Games are timed to guard against over-exertion. By letting a few take part at a time, the others unknowingly rest while awaiting their turn. Much of their activity is made up as they go along, and this is encouraged. They are helped to vary their play, given needed information to make their play more real, and suggestions are given to open new fields of exploration.

Natural development helps to increase skills of the elementary age group. As their hands become larger, and can better handle balls, their muscles become more coordinated, and they run, jump, and turn with greater ease. Girls frequently outrun, outplay, and sometimes outgrow the boys at this age. Most of their activities lie in the vigorous games. Their real interests rest in the activities for which they have an inherited ability, and developing skill in them by practicing, interests them most. Great perfection of body coordination is not yet possible, but this is the period when practice must begin if special and unusual skill is ever to be attained. Much coaching is done at this period in the Sanford schools. They are taught to hold the bat correctly, the proper balance for throwing, the development of rhythm in their motions, etc., for the movements they use at this age can well become fixed habits of the future. This is the easiest time for corrections, before the movement becomes mechanical and natural to them.

The age group that is much before the eye of the public is the so-called "teen" age group of the junior high and early high school years. Many skills and attitudes are acquired at this age. Physically many boys and girls seem to lose much of their previous ability, for as they grow, body changes take place, and a new awkwardness develops. The body often takes on the size and form of the adult figures. At this time frequently the personality undergoes rather a sudden and radical change in mood, interest, and emotional stability. They are impulsive and very enthusiastic, and so engrossed in themselves that even the best mannered children are frequently quite rude. They are often thought quite lazy when they are really only day dreamers.

To provide for this variety of school children and their physical activities, demands much equipment and facilities. These essentials become less a problem as the program progresses. Wherever possible, arrangements have been made to allow more than one group to use facilities and equipment at various times during the day. Care is exercised to obtain equipment which is durable and standard. Some equipment has been manufactured at little cost to the schools by the vocational departments. All available space is utilized for suitable activities. In some cases playgrounds are not sufficiently large to allow assignments of definite sections for specific purposes. Where classrooms are the only indoor space available, the new, moveable seats and furniture makes a large area of the classroom usable.

During the past year, the physical education department has carried on a quite varied program of activities. The popular vacation programs have been continued, as well as the Saturday morning physical education classes. The programs were carried on with the help of additional staff members.

In the field of athletics, baseball and basketball leagues have been carried on in both the 5th and 6th grade level and the junior high school level. Coaches have been provided for each of the schools and league schedules arranged. The combined junior high school football squad, under able coaching continued to their second undefeated season. The grammar school basketball league was enlarged to include the teams from communities which send their students to our local high school. Teams representing the two junior high schools competed in the spring track meet, with the team trophy going to Hamlin of Springvale.

In the area of correlated activities, this department assisted in the production of three public presentations of Lincoln, Lafayette and Emerson schools. Perhaps the most ambitious project was the Physical Panorama that was presented to the public during National Education Week. There were approximately 1,200 pupils from every grade and room in the elementary system. They presented, under the direction of their teachers, twenty-one units of work. It was emphasized as a demonstration, rather than an exhibition. With the exception of one special activity, an indoor Maypole Dance, all units demonstrated a phase of physical education that was being used at that grade level. The entire demonstration was arranged to show the progression, not only of the program of activities, but also the progression of the child as to physical growth and development. Citizenship training units included schoolboy patrol work, and patriotic drills. One unit, an Indian Dance, demonstrated the correlation between music, art, and physical education, three special areas of education. Individual accomplishments were demonstrated in the tumbling and wrestling units. It was estimated that a proximately 2,000 citizens were present at the panorama.

I wish to express my appreciation to the Superintendent of Schools and the Superintending School Committee for their splendid cooperation in furthering the program of physical education in the Sanford schools.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my report as Supervisor of Art.

Educators the length and breadth of America are gravely concerned with what appears to be a trend toward regimented thought processes. They fear the threat to democracy. It is said to be a natural swing of the pendulum back from the age of "rugged individualism" and also a result of mass production and mass communication. Some say that it stems from confusion and fear, and the longing for security through the acceptance of common beliefs and behavior patterns. Whatever the cause, it is the educator who must stem the tide and try to combat the regimentation of children's creative powers.

Those men who fought in the last world war have reported that the resourcefulness of American soldiers under difficult circumstances was in extreme contrast to the lack of ingenuity of soldiers raised under the totalitarian regime. They realize the utmost importance of continuing the "American way of life."

It is in the creative arts that initiative is fostered. Art educators are concerned with another type of, seemingly harmless, regimentation that is taking root. For years now, there has been the effort to impress the classroom teacher with the fact that to encircle a room with thirty-six identical pumpkins or turkeys is a type of regimentation. Now we are faced with the TV programs that encourage children to follow meaningless stereotypes which stand between the child and his personal interpretation; complicated number systems which throw the thrill of painting into the discard; and ready made molds which are taking the place of creative clay modeling. There are by contrast, many fine, challenging building toys for children today and any child in Sanford should, if encouraged at home, be able to draw, paint and model creatively in his leisure time. I mention this in my report in the hope that those parents to whose attention it may be brought will perhaps see what will happen to public taste if within a generation the creative individual ceases to exist.

The teachers in our schools are anxious to give Sanford children creative experiences that will contribute to a maximum total child development. This past year a special effort was made. Twelve teachers met with me at the high school on released time, six in a morning session and six in an afternoon session over a period of nine meetings which took place from January through May. In the morning group we made an extensive study of unitary procedures, consulting various textbooks and prepared units; sending for source material; viewing appropriate films and evaluating them; recording a bibliography for children and for teachers; bringing in consultants; writing a unit; and as a culminating activity, using the tape recorder, which is one of the newest means of encouraging child oral reports. We used as a vehicle a unit on Conservation, and charted an integrated series of activities whereby the children, with teacher guidance, would have every possible opportunity to use initiative in helping to choose, plan, and carry out these activities, each within his own capabilities. The objective of such a method of teaching is to take the emphasis from the question and answer method of "conformity and dependence" and place it on "guidance" in child research; oral reports; original stories, poems, songs, drawings, paintings, construction; and the taking of field trips for personal observation.

The afternoon session was in the form of an Art Workshop. Each session was composed of discussion and studio activity with art media. The following phases of art education were covered: Art in the Total School Program; Characteristics of Child Art; The role of the art supervisor; Suggestions for Related Art Activities; Caring for Art Materials; Crayons; Painting in Tempera and in Water Color; Chalk; Murals; The place of Perspective in today's Program; Plasticine and Clay Modeling; Sawdust and Paste Modeling; Pen lettering; Posters; Art appreciation; Resource material; Film Strips on the Elements of Art; and as a culminating activity, group modeling in papier mache, in which the group joined in the sculpture of one large subject. Objectives of this workshop were: To bring to the group a clearer understanding of recent developments in art education; To enrich the experience of the group members in art appreciation; To give practical experience in the handling of art media in order that the child's viewpoint may be better understood; and to develop a respect for freedom of expression and individual ideas. The practical results of both sessions are evident in many subtle ways and I believe that every one of us profited by these meetings.

The above gives an idea of the type of activity taking place in the elementary schools. In addition, some of the Emerson school students had their first experience in stage set painting this year. They were responsible for painting all of the many scenes in their operetta, "Tom Sawyer." Other operetta scenery has been handled by the high school art students including "Pinafore" of last spring. More recently they painted the garden backdrop for the senior play, "The Inner Willy." In the high school art classes students are, at this writing, working on pen and ink technique. Earlier work was in advanced figure drawing, and experience with an abstract approach to design principles, using various art media, in order to form a basis for later application to individual projects, since each student is encouraged to develop his own style of expression.

In conclusion, may I take this opportunity to thank you, Mr. Sullivan; Mr. Page, the school committee and all elementary school principals and teachers for your continued co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Supervisor of Art

ANNUAL REPORT

of the Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor

January 1 to December 31, 1954

We, the Board of Selectmen, Assessors and Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Sanford and Village of Springvale, having been privileged by democratic processes to serve you during the year ending December 31, 1954, herewith respectfully submit a summary of some of our many activities and stewardship.

The year 1954 will long be remembered by our townspeople as being the period in which they witnessed the demise of that industrial Hercules, which for several generations, was known to most of us as Sanford Mills and the Goodall Worsted Company. This industry, founded by Mr. Thomas Goodall, and guided by him most artfully through the reefs and shoals of the industrial "No Man's Land," was, for many generations, the lifeblood of what we all came to know as "The Largest Town in Maine," the Town of Sanford. After his decease, this industry was most healthily and successfully piloted by his noble sons, daughters, and other members of the family until the year 1944 when it passed from local to absentee ownership via the course of merger into Goodall-Sanford. Incorporated. For several years after the merger, it seemed as though Sanford would enjoy unending prosperity, but then, we, like all other single-large-industry towns, were eventually faced with the problems of migration of textiles to the South, and many other factors which make retrospection most unpleasant, and finally, we were confronted with the loss of the largest single member of our industrial family. Then, before the zero hour had struck us, the Sanford and Springvale Chamber of Commerce was organized and set into motion under the direction of its first and very able President, State Senator Carl Broggi. The Chamber through the Bradley Real Estate Company of Boston, Massachusetts, lost no time in getting the Grossman Brothers of Quincy, Massachusetts, interested in the purchase of the industrial properties which were now owned by Burlington Mills Corporation as a result of their acquisition of the controlling interest in Goodall-Sanford, Incorporated. After many conferences between the Grossman Brothers, Burlington Mills, the Chamber of Commerce and our office, the Grossman Family Trust, during the latter part of the year, purchased all the properties, industrial and otherwise.

On the day this important transaction took place, we believe it signalled the dawn of a new era that will ultimately result in a healthier, better and greater Sanford, and at this juncture, we cordially welcome Mr. Sydney Grossman, President of the Grossman Industrial Properties, his brothers, and any industry which is contemplating locating in our midst—we can assure them that they will find an atmosphere electrified with cooperation, friendliness, good will, and above all, a source of labor that is intelligent, flexible, that has knowhow and adaptability in all kinds of work.

During this period of transition, we are being and will continue to be sorely tried with an increasing relief burden and many other complex problems. However, Sanford has seen other years, depression years, when the metal of its people was put to severe test, and, as always, it weathered the storm, as it will this transitional period of industrial diversification and economic adjustment.

The Annual Town Meeting of December 7, 1954, hewed closely to the line recommended by the Warrant Committee in relation to the many articles calling for appropriations, and at this point may we express our appreciation and thanks to all members of the Warrant Committee for the long hours, tedious work and exhaustive study which they gave to the budget presented to them for consideration and recommendation to the Town Meeting. True, cuts were recommended in all but relief appropriations, but none were so drastic as to impair any vital function of government. Their labor is truly one of unselfishness dedicated entirely to the common welfare of the community. Austerity, we might say, is a practice which our citizenry can adapt themselves to when the need arises.

During the early part of the year we entered into an agreement with the State Department of Education relative to receiving Federal Surplus Commodities for the Welfare Department and Mountain View Infirmary. These commodities are also distributed to border line relief cases, and in very many instances has meant the difference between them and the welfare office door.

Summing up, may we say that municipal problems are daily becoming more complex, that for some time in the foreseeable future they will continue to multiply—this will demand the undivided attention of each and every one of us, but with unflagging faith in the destiny and future of our community, we shall forge ahead and overcome all obstacles on our march to a stronger, greater and better Sanford.

In closing, we wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all municipal departments for their cooperation in helping to make our tasks a little lighter, and last but not least, may we say to the clerical staff in all municipal offices. thank you one and all for work well done. Finally, we wish to extend our sincere thanks to you, the citizens of Sanford, for having given us the opportunity to serve you.

Respectfully submitted,

MAURICE J. MAURICE

SANFORD FIRE DEPARTMENT

Municipal Officers of the Town of Sanford

Sanford, Maine

Gentlemen:

The Engineers of the Sanford Fire Department submit the following report for the year 1954.

The equipment is in very good condition with the exception of our 1928 Maxim Pumper. This truck is now twenty-six years old and should be disposed of and replaced with a new one. However, due to conditions beyond the taxpaying citizens control, this purchase, though it be of vital importance to the safety of Sanford and surrounding communities, can not be made at this time.

The full extent of damage caused by the hurricane this summer will not be known until a complete check is made this spring of all wire outside the Fire Station. There are twenty-three miles of wire to cover.

The new floor for the Fire Station is already to be installed this spring.

We wish to express our appreciation to the Selectmen, the Springvale Fire Department, the Police Department, Highway Department, Central Maine Power Company and the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., and all departments in the Town of Sanford.

Respectfully submitted,

ALMON H. STACKPOLE, Chief
FREDERICK HAMMOND, 1st Assistant
CHARLES E. PIKE, 2nd Assistant

We have three new fire alarm boxes added to our system in new locations: one on Ellsworth Street, one on John and Roles Streets, and one on Joy Street.

PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTYREPORT OF SANFORD CIVIL DEFENSE AND PUBLIC SAFETY AGENCY

December 31, 1954

Maurice J. Maurice, Chairman
Board of Selectmen
Sanford, Maine

I hereby submit my report of the Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety Agency for 1954.

Public alerts were held at the direction of State Headquarters with participation confined to staff and communications personnel and without direct action on the part of all of the various units of the agency. Individual units have held their several training activities under the capable leadership in their respective groups. The local economic situation has taken its toll of personnel resulting in a smaller roster but morale continues high.

The services such as Fire Reserves, Police Reserves, First Aid Units, Mass Feeding and Communications successfully battled the elements in all the late summer hurricanes. The control center was in operation with its emergency power supply equipment for extended periods and at one time was the only means of outside contact.

All of the equipment purchased in previous years is in good condition. First Aid supplies have been acquired during the past year, as have two pieces of radio equipment. "Communications is Command" is an old military axiom and of course holds true in civilian life. The older radio sets because of long range planning have increased in value and will presently be altered at an expenditure of a very few hundreds of dollars to tie in with the state program which has just recently been finalized. It is gratifying to report that our communications set up is the best in the State of Maine.

We express our appreciation to the members of the organization who have given so wholeheartedly of their time and to many of our citizens for their moral support and their appreciation of our problems.

Respectfully submitted,

A. ALLAN HORNE,

Director of Sanford Civil Defense and Public Safety

HEALTH OFFICER FOR 1954

January 29, 1955

To the Selectmen,
Town of Sanford, Maine
Gentlemen:

As Health Officer for the Town of Sanford, Maine, from January 1, 1954, to January 1, 1955, I herewith submit a report of activities during that year.

Children in the public and parochial schools continued to receive vaccinations against smallpox and inoculations against diphtheria, tetanus, and whooping cough, once their parents' consent had been obtained. Again in 1954, the number of unvaccinated and uninoculated school admittees dropped, due to the Well-Baby Clinic, held for pre-school children at the Unitarian Church Gymnasium on the third Thursday of every month. This clinic will continue to be held throughout 1955.

The communicable disease report for the past year is not either completely favorable or completely unfavorable. The combined total of all contagious diseases reported in the State for 1954 is 18,168 as compared with 18,500 in 1953, a drop of 332 cases. However, some diseases rose in number in 1954. Those which declined are chickenpox, German measles, pneumonia, streptococcal nasopharyngitis, tuberculosis, whooping cough, poliomyelitis, gonorrhea, and syphilis. Those which increased are infectious hepatitis, measles, mumps, and rheumatic fever. With the exception of measles, the increases were almost negligible. Measles cases increased from 1,524 to 5,679. Sanford's contribution to the contagious disease record has always been relatively low, but this, unfortunately, is due in great part to the neglect of many citizens and physicians in reporting contagious diseases.

During the year, complaints of public nuisances and infractions of the plumbing and sanitation laws were investigated and dealt with.

Medical and surgical care was given to welfare cases, old age assistance cases, and wards of the state, when needed. Under this program, visits were made to the Mountain View Infirmary, and convalescent homes in Lebanon, Shapleigh, Acton, and Sanford.

As in past years, Dr. Kenneth J. Kornetsky continued to examine the eyes of Sanford's school children.

Sincere thanks are extended to the welfare nurses, Community Health nurses, and Mrs. Elwin Holland of Mountain View Infirmary for their much-appreciated help and cooperation throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,

A. S. LINCOURT, M. D.,
Health Officer

REPORT OF THE COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION FOR 1954

To the Citizens of Sanford:

Following is the report of the public health nursing activities of The Community Health Association of Sanford. Our nursing program accomplishments are submitted under four classifications.

I. Service for bedside nursing care and nursing care to ambulatory patients.

1,144 visits were made to patients at the request of the patients' physician and care was given as ordered.

II. Combination service of bedside nursing care, health education and clinic participation.

1. Program with Diabetics

288 visits were made to diabetic patients for instruction in the technique of administering insulin, in personal hygiene and in explanation of diets as ordered by the physician.

Assistance was given a representative of the New England Diabetic Association in planning and observing a Diabetic Fair Exhibit. An educational exhibit was arranged by the Association. The nurses attended for the purpose of conferring with visitors and for giving clinical tests.

2. Tuberculosis Program

499 visits were made to tuberculosis patients, suspects and contacts. These visits were made under the direction of the county health officer, the local health officer and private physicians.

221 individuals had chest x-rays at clinics held bi-monthly at the Henrietta D. Goodall Hospital. These clinics are organized and attended by The Community Health Association nurses. The reports of x-rays are submitted to the patients and doctors.

An evaluation of our tuberculosis nursing program was done, at our request, by a representative of the United States Public Health Nursing Service. Recommendations given at that time have been followed, as far as practical.

Contact was made with the York County Tuberculosis and Health Association to ask for a better working arrangement between the two organizations. Plans have been begun toward this accomplishment.

3. Program for Cancer Patients

31 visits were made to patients with cancer, urging continuous medical supervision. Also, dressings were changed and nursing care given as needed.

4. Program with Well Babies and Pre-School Children

1,494 conferences were held by the nurses with parents concerning the development and care of an average child in this age group.

Letters were sent to parents of three-month old babies, explaining the need for immunization against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough and vaccination against smallpox. The letter suggested that parents consult with their family physicians or attend the Association's clinics in this connection.

10 Immunization clinics were organized and attended. Assistance was given the Town Health Officer at these clinics. 121 pre-school children were vaccinated against smallpox and 415 injections were given for prevention against diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Clinics for examination of children's feet were inaugurated this year and ten were held. A podiatrist is in charge and the nurses assist as needed. 97 were in attendance.

5. Communicable Disease Control Program

25 home visits were made to this type patient. These visits were in addition to those made in the tuberculosis program. Also, the immunization clinics described under the well baby and pre-school program are a part of the communicable disease control program.

6. Program for Cardiac Patients

262 visits were rendered to individuals with heart trouble. A concentrated program was centered on the patient to insure that they keep under medical care and follow doctors' advices.

7. Pre-natal Care Program

259 visits to these patients included instruction for care during this period.

Two series of Mothers' Classes were attended. Four lectures were given by our nurses, including the showing of charts and movies applicable to pre-natal patients. Arrangements were made for a lecture on "Nutrition" delivered by the Home Demonstration Agent of the Farm Bureau.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

8. Program for Crippled Individuals

212 visits were made to crippled individuals, interpreting to patients and families care recommended by specialists.

III. Sanford Health Camp at Highpine, Maine

Seven continuous weeks of care was given to 30 Sanford children. The children were referred for care by physicians because of physical or emotional disturbances. A health education program was presented to these children to teach them methods for aiding themselves.

A lecture on "Foods for Growing Children" was planned for the parents of the camp children. This was held in early fall. 24 attended and received valuable information from our guest lecturer, the York County Home Demonstration Agent.

92 visits were made to these children in their homes for follow-up care.

IV. Nursing Service in the Parochial Schools.

79 visits were made to the Parochial Schools for consultations with teachers.

Clinics were organized and attended for the immunization and vaccination of children in the sub-primary and first grades.

Patch tuberculin tests were applied to children in the sub-primary grades.

Analysis for detection of sugar was done in the seventh grade.

Audiometer hearing testing was given in the third through the eighth grades.

In addition to executing the above program, we have considered our work in relation to other organized groups in the community. Assistance has been given, whenever requested, in helping organizations assist individuals.

Conference meetings were planned with workers from the Salvation Army, the Sanford and Springvale Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Henrietta D. Goodall Hospital, with the Sanford Welfare Nurse and the State Child Welfare Worker. Our respective programs were discussed.

HEALTH AND SANITATION

An educational program for our nurses has been one of our aims, for a well-informed nurse gives better professional service.

In conclusion, in rendering our particular service we have followed a program that has emphasized the improvement of the health and welfare of all who live in the community.

Respectfully submitted,

WARD T. HANSCOM, President
The Community Health Association

REPORT OF PARK COMMISSION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

The activities of the Park Commission during the year 1954 have been varied, the progress and development very gratifying.

Fifty 8-10 foot nursery grown shade trees were set out in various sections of the town and a complete spraying was done.

The attendance at the playgrounds this year was 18,161, an increase of 4,000.

A pony league was organized, the age group 12-16, and a little minor league team from 9-11. These programs proved successful.

The Park Commission extends its appreciation to all those who have so faithfully cared for and protected the young trees and shrubs that have been planted.

"Through your Park Commission a more beautiful Sanford."

Respectfully submitted,

CHARLES BLOUIN, Chairman

RAYMOND Y. LORD

ROLAND LANGLAIS

The "No School Signal" will be sounded only on those occasions when concern for the pupils makes it imperative.

Parents are urged to keep their children at home, even when school is in session, if road conditions in their locality are particularly hazardous.

Whenever possible, information on the "No School Signal" will be given over the following radio stations: Station WGAN, Portland; Station WIDE, Biddeford; Station WWNH, Rochester; Station WCSH, Portland.

On occasions when the "No School Signal" is sounded at 7:45 a. m., there will be no school for the entire day. The reason for this is the impossibility of securing busses and setting up bus routes during the noon hour. Please note that the signal for the afternoon session has been changed from 11:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS AND SANFORD SCHOOL COMMITTEE

Citizens of Sanford:

With the close of the 1954 fiscal year it is a pleasure to report on the status of the public school system of Sanford.

The record of the Sanford Schools for 1954 is one of encouraging and substantial growth. I urge you to examine the entire report on education and to use it as a measure both of present accomplishments and of future plans. The best means of evaluating your schools, however, is by visiting them personally. Your schools are always open to you, the citizens of Sanford, and I respectfully urge you to visit them often.

At a time when so much energy must be devoted to problems of surging enrollment and educational costs, it is worthwhile to focus attention on long range objectives in education.

Much is expected of today's schools under the pressure of present day living when the school is called upon to do many things formerly done by the home, church and community. We stress in our Sanford schools the teaching of fundamentals and at the same time provide studies to fit our children for whatever vocations they may choose to follow. Subject matter is organized on broader lines to arouse the interest of the child and enable him to see the practical application of the principles he learns. The development of permanent reading habits based on a joy in reading is a most important part of our educational program and standard test results indicate that our children, here in Sanford, rate far above the national average at all grade levels. We try to help children develop physically, emotionally and socially and to be prepared to discharge creditably their duties as citizens in the community.

A major part of my 1954 report is centered around a curriculum study carried on by the teachers of Sanford. Underlying my educational philosophy is a basic concern for the individual child, his adjustment and continuing growth. The educational process is a continuing search for better ways to broaden the horizons and enrich the living of all children who attend Sanford schools. In our study of the curriculum we constantly meet the challenging problems confronting teachers and parents and by groping with these problems we become more tolerant of the individual child and his needs.

Elementary School Enrollment

For the past several years I have discussed in the Town Report the rising elementary school enrollment. Projected figures have been presented to you on several occasions. The general problem of an increasing elementary school population is still with us and during the past year an Elementary School Building Committee has carefully studied the critical problem facing Sanford citizens. The Committee named at the 1953 Town Meeting included the three members of the Sanford School Committee and the following Sanford citizens:

Mr. Maurice J. Maurice	Mr. Thomas Meunier
Mr. Arthur Carignan.	Dr. Rudolph Johnson
Mr. Warren McDougal	Mr. Ralph Ross

I have presented below a breakdown of elementary school enrollment over a five month period, September 1954 to January 1955. Despite the unfortunate local industrial situation our grade school population shows signs of increasing to a point where definite action must be taken.

ENROLLMENT FIGURES —

EDUCATION

At the present time all classrooms are being used at the Lafayette, Longfellow, Emerson, Edison, Hawthorne and Lincoln Schools. In September 1955 it is necessary to absorb fourteen (14) fifth graders from the Hawthorne School in already crowded classrooms at the Lafayette, Longfellow and Edison Schools. A normal sub-primary registration in September will over-tax present facilities.

The School Committee has prepared for the influx of students by renovating three classrooms at the Vocational School on River Street to be used during the emergency. Use of the rooms for primary classes will force the Vocational School program into the basement of the River Street school and will be inadequate for our expanding Vocational School program.

The building of a new Vocational School on Main Street was tabled indefinitely by the School Committee because of considerable opposition raised by Sanford citizens. At the present time two divisions of the Vocational School are carrying on their excellent program at the Vocational School on River Street and a third division has been moved to a local garage.

The School Committee and the Elementary School Building Committee delayed making definite recommendations to Town Meeting Members until the local economic situation is clarified. Both committees are anxious and ready to make recommendations but will postpone definite action as long as the labor condition continues unsettled and as long as the School Committee can find adequate housing for the elementary school children.

Financial

I am happy to report, for the second consecutive year, that it has been possible to keep spending within the proposed budget and to close the financial pages with a balance of $300.98. This was again accomplished despite a record school enrollment, increased cost of school supplies and textbooks and increased transportation costs. Credit for the judicious manner in which school money is so carefully handled should be given to your School Committee. The people of Sanford are fortunate to be represented by School Committee members who make every effort to see that school dollars are wisely and carefully spent. Our present Committee has worked diligently to translate into actuality the desire of the people of Sanford for good schools, and to keep the cost of such schools in line with the financial ability of the community.

In December 1953, Town Meeting Members raised $393,841 for the support of public education.

EDUCATION

In December, 1954, after a complete analysis of the local economic conditions and a thorough study of the present educational needs your School Committee asked your Town Meeting members to raise $322,698. This was a reduction in their school budget of over $70,000. This reduced budget is possible because all school repair work during the coming year will be delayed, new equipment will not be purchased and the teachers of Sanford will not be given their regular stipend as outlined in their salary schedule.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the members of the teaching profession for their considerate acceptance of the School Committee's recommendation. Their willingness to cooperate with the community during this period of uncertainty is indicative of the type of person we are privileged to have in the classrooms of Sanford. However, if we are to select and hold the best teachers, it is essential that every effort is made to see that the salary schedule is returned to the teachers as soon as it is economically feasible.

Repairs

Your School Committee carried on a most ambitious repairs program in 1954 and space does not permit the listing of all the work completed. I have listed below only the major projects. It is most fortunate that this extensive program was carried on during the past year as your School Committee has delayed all new repair work for one calendar year. Methods such as this made possible a vastly reduced 1955 school budget. All citizens realize, however, that repair work cannot be postponed indefinitely and that at some future date increased appropriation must be made to do the work postponed during 1955.

Adult Education

Under the direction of the Sanford School Committee, and partially subsidized by the State Department of Education (matches local appropriation) the Adult Education program includes vocational training in the following areas: Electronics and Radio, Welding and Burning, Machine Tools, Sheet Metal and Blue Print Reading. Two instructors had to be employed in Welding and Machine Tools because of the number of men interested in the work. The Vocational School had to be opened afternoons, as well as evenings, to handle the large number of men enrolled in the various classes.

Education for adults is a solid section of the great, sprawling American adventure—education for all. A greater portion of people go to school in America than in any other land on earth—and who will say it hasn't "paid off". Our Evening School program here in Sanford has restored the confidence of many men in their ability to learn a new skill and a new trade. Many of the men who enrolled in the various courses in late September have gained enough knowledge and skill to apply successfully for work in nearby communities. Many of the men, I hope, will find employment in the new industries coming to Sanford.

The very presence of hundreds of men in our school buildings is a double dividend, in greater knowledge of the value of education for children and in increased public approval of public education. The common denominator of interest in a core of study is a solid pedestal for human relations to build on. The by-products in good mental hygiene defy description and measurement.

EDUCATION

How great, indeed, is our responsibility for the training of adults when we realize that democracy's problems—and the problems of Sanford—depend upon the ability of our adults to learn new skills and new trades for new industries. Such 1955 industries as electronics and plastics demand new skills and our schools must be flexible enough—and our teachers co-operative—so that our program is ready to meet the demands of modern industry.

I would like to pay my respects to members of our Evening School faculty for their willingness to assume greater responsibility for understanding the skills and techniques of new industries and this splendid spirit of cooperation and devotion to their chosen profession.

Curriculum Study

For the past three years the teachers, the supervisors and your superintendent directed their efforts toward a "written curriculum" for the public schools of Sanford. Monthly meetings were spent on a study of the subject; teachers attended workshops at leading New England Universities in search of information; experts in the field of curriculum revision were invited to Sanford to discuss modern trends in curriculum work; small groups of teachers worked throughout the school year and through the summer months in compiling necessary material. The work was stimulating, challenging, and I think rewarding.

I would like to discuss this subject in my report as intelligent citizens continue to raise pertinent questions on this important subject.

Education is a continuous process. As long as an individual interacts with his environment and derives meaning from the interaction, learning takes place. An individual's education is not limited to the experience he has in school. All his experiences at home and in the community contribute to his education. The school plans for the individual the kind of experiences that contribute to the purposes of education in a democratic society. The curriculum consists of all the experiences thus planned by the school for the education of individuals. It is imperative that the curriculum be planned to further the purposes for which schools are maintained in a democratic society.

Basic to all curriculum planning in Sanford is the commitment of the schools to further the democratic way of life. From this commitment arises concern with the welfare and full development of every person. This concern shows itself in the creation of school programs that are adjusted to fit individual children, provision of broad opportunities at every grade level for the gifted child and the development of his many talents and abilities, adoption of practices that will stimulate interest and progress in the slow learner, adoption of practices that further mental and physical health, and extension of the scope of the curriculum to include all experiences that will make individuals increasingly effective in every day living.

Human relations and skills necessary for group living are the business of schools that are educating for democracy. Boys and girls must be educated for democratic life through planned experiences they will develop facility in human relations and a system of values that will enable them to participate in democratic living now and in the future.

The many skills needed by free men who must direct and govern themselves have been emphasized in the new curriculum. Among these skills are critical thinking, problem solving, handling skillfully the 3R's, delegating and taking responsibility, using freedom intelligently, pooling ideas, and expressing oneself creatively. In a modern curriculum, methods are as important as content. It is realized that children need to know ways of acting, getting information, making group decisions, and solving problems, perhaps more than they need to accumulate a body of knowledge much of which may soon be out-of-date.

Our program of curriculum development has given attention to problems that are important to children living in today's world. Much use is made of experiences that go beyond the school into the community. Learnings are related to the real life of the child. Children are given repeated opportunity to develop insights into such critical problems of society as conservation of human and natural resources (a committee of our Sanford teachers worked for eighteen weeks on the development of such a unit), inter-group relationships and cooperation with other people. These are developed by selecting experiences for children that are important to them now in their own neighborhood and which lead into larger areas of living. Experiences with trains and airplanes are supplementing units not related to the life of the child; seeing the local government in action (visiting Town Meeting—Court House in Alfred) or visiting places where soil conservation is practiced are important in a curriculum meeting the needs of the children of Sanford.

Curriculum planning outlines learning experiences and instruction so that the required subject may be taught in meaningful relation to one another and to the child. For instance, our primary children visit our local fire stations where learnings in reading, art, civics and fire prevention result from a single well-planned experience. (My sincere appreciation to all our local people for splendid cooperation in making field trips possible) In this setting, each subject as an integral part of the total learning situation becomes meaningful and, therefore, it frequently reinforces and facilitates learning in the other subjects. For this reason I urge teachers to develop units of work and suggest that their daily program be organized in terms of the type of activity children will be carrying on, or into broad fields such as language arts or social studies, rather than into tightly compartmentalized subject programs.

The work in Sanford has proven successful because all the teachers worked together and pooled their abilities in a democratic manner. The project however, is far from complete. Now we must carefully evaluate the material and determine whether or not our curriculum is meeting the needs of every child. This evaluation will result in a revised curriculum and a flexible program to meet the challenges of a changing society.

EDUCATION

The curriculum in the Sanford schools has been made vital by providing all the necessary instructional materials to our classroom teacher. In addition to the basic textbooks, it is the practice of your School Committee to provide supplemental textbooks to meet the demand of the modern curriculum employed in the schools of Sanford.

Conclusion

I firmly believe that the things our children do in school should be related to the community in which they live and at the same time should broaden their horizons so that they better understand their neighbors and their neighbors' problems. Schools should help children to discover what is important in their immediate environment, to understand and to be concerned about community problems and to realize how they can help to build a better community and a better world. Good schools, in a very real sense, are of the community, by the community, and for the community. The public schools of Sanford belong to you, the people of Sanford. Continue to be interested in them and you will continue to have the very best schools in the entire New England area.

The public schools of Sanford are a cooperative enterprise. What ever is achieved is made possible by the working together of many people, School Committee, Town officials, staff members, citizens committees, Parent-Teacher organizations, parents, and all the people of the community. In the name of the children of Sanford, I thank you all for your devotion to duty, your friendly assistance, and your firm belief in the future of Sanford. We must all pitch in together in the year ahead, each and every one of us, and the future of the finest community to be found anywhere, will be assured. Horace Mann put it in these words: "Nothing is so good it cannot be made better—nothing so bad it might not become worse . . . No community should rest content with being superior to other communities while it is inferior to its own capabilities."

REPORT OF THE PRINCIPAL OF HIGH SCHOOL

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I hereby submit to you my report as principal of Sanford High School.

The enrollment as of October 1 was 606 and the present enrollment is 583. Those leaving school did so for the usual reasons—moving out of town, illness, working, etc. It is interesting to note that contrary to predictions, as yet there has been no rapid exodus of students because of the economic situation in town. There will, of course, be some students leaving for other communities as their parents are employed elsewhere and consequently there may still be more than the normal dropout of students this year.

The study of the Sanford High School Curriculum was finished this fall and Courses of Study are being mimeographed. Sanford High is one among a very few schools in Maine to have a written course of study. The members of the faculty will put this into immediate use making necessary revisions throughout the year. This is, of necessity, a continual process as no course of study should be static in these changing times.

There have been several faculty changes during the past year. Mrs. Estella Clarke, an outstanding Mathematics teacher and a wise counselor of boys and girls, passed away—a most serious loss to Sanford High School. Mrs. Carleton Rollins took her place as head of the Mathematics Department and is carrying on her work with enthusiasm and ability. Another faculty loss occurred when Mr. Toothaker, a relatively young man and a superior science teacher died after school had been in session only a short time in the fall. Mr. George Reef was hired to take Mr. Toothaker's place. Mr. Reef is a relatively inexperienced teacher but has entered upon his duties with earnestness and success.

Several other changes have been made within the existing faculty group. Mr. Prescott has taken over Mr. George Reid's General Science and Physical Science classes and Mrs. Emil Merrifield, who substituted last year, has been assigned to the English Department to take the place of Mrs. Rollins after her transfer to the Mathematics Department.

Sanford High has been undergoing a building period in boys' athletics and is beginning to show evidence of definite improvement in sports. Under Mr. Nicholson's able and enthusiastic coaching, the football team made rapid strides in morale and in games won. The record was five wins and five losses for a comparatively good record. Mr. Nicholson has also coached an indoor track team which has been holding its own against the large school teams of Western Maine. This is especially gratifying for many of the boys on the team go out for no other sport and consequently an additional group of students is thereby given an opportunity for extra-curricular activity.

Mr. Justin Nunan, taking the place as basketball coach of Mr. George Reid who is now coaching and teaching in Texas, has kept on with the rebuilding of that team. Marked improvement over last year is evident with most of the players in the Sophomore and Junior classes.

Mrs. Julia Gould, who has taken Miss Catherine Stulb's place while Miss Stulb is doing graduate work at the University of Tennessee, is teaching Physical Education and coaching girls' basketball. She is carrying on well in both capacities. The girls have an outstanding record in basketball at the present time.

Unfortunately it was necessary to abandon for the present, at least, the plans for building a Vocational School Building near the high school. The renovation of the present Vocational School building by the boys has continued and facilities have been improved.

The Band and Glee Club have maintained their places as two of the outstanding musical organizations of the state. Much credit is due Mr. Everett Firth and Mrs. Agnes Tibbetts for their success in giving to Sanford High students the best possible instruction and a chance for valuable carry-over activities. One of the high points in our school music was the combined Glee Club and Band "Festival of Music" on Open House night during American Education Week. The Band has recently staged, very successfully, the first of its two annual concerts and the Glee Club is, at present, preparing the annual Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta—The Mikado.

Sanford High is always cognizant of the fact that one of its prime objectives is preparation for college. The list of colleges to which we are sending students at the present time includes as usual many of the outstanding colleges in the country. This list includes the following:

Harvard
Yale
Mass. Inst. of Tech.
Johns Hopkins
Wellesly
Smith
Wheaton

Boston University
University of Maine
Michigan State
University of New Hampshire
Rochester Inst. of Tech.
Northeastern
Wentworth Institute

EDUCATION

Bowdoin
Williams
Colby
Tufts
Nasson

Gordon
Babson Institute
Fisher Junior Bentley's
Bangor Theological Inst.
New Hampshire Tech. Inst.
Maine Maritime Academy

The record of Sanford High boys taking the highly competitive N.R.O.T.C. exams remains excellent—two senior boys having passed the mental examinations this year.

It is worthy of notice that the Sanford High School Cafeteria, even in the present trying economic conditions in Sanford, is feeding a reasonably normal number of students and is continuing to be self supporting.

One of the most marked improvements during the past year is the reorganization of the library under the direction of Miss Edna Folsom. Books have been catalogued and more reference books added. Few schools of the size of Sanford can boast as fine a library. Much credit also should be given to the Goodall Library for cooperation in making many additional non-fiction and fiction books available to Sanford High students. Mrs. Arthur Crabtree, the librarian, sent to the school two days each week from the Goodall Library, has been of inestimable service.

The citizens of Sanford have shown that they believe in sound education and are continuing during our present economic crisis to support the effort being made to keep our schools at the same high standard hitherto enjoyed by the youth of this town. It is a source of great pride to the administration and faculty of our school to hear the many expressions of appreciation of Sanford schools by men coming here to investigate the industrial possibilities. It is a challenge to all of our teachers to redouble our efforts in the days ahead to do everything within our power to continue to merit this approbation. We gladly and enthusiastically accept this challenge.

Respectfully submitted,

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISOR OF ELEMENTARY MUSIC

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit my annual report as Supervisor of Elementary Music.

Music is a relatively new field in the curriculum of our elementary and secondary schools. Music education had its origin in Boston in 1837 when Lowell Mason conducted his first elementary school classes. Prior to that time, singing schools were the chief form of musical instruction. Only a little over a hundred years ago, the first book of secular songs for children was published. We should not forget that music education in the schools of the United States does not have a long history. We should not forget the phenomenal progress we have made in making music education widely accessible to all boys and girls. It is now generally appreciated that music is necessary for a well-rounded education, and that music can enrich the classroom experiences of children.

Music educators now are thinking beyond the idea that music learning means the ability to read fluently with syllables. That aim, born with the "singing schools," has been superseded by one more comprehensive. We know a person learns mathematics by doing much more than memorizing and reciting the multiplication tables; and he learns reading by understanding the meanings of sentences and paragraphs rather than learning to pronounce words. So we know that music comprehension comes with the opening up of meanings in the music itself. And these meanings are taught through the revelation of what music does to individuals who use it creatively.

Musicians are placed in two groups: the professional and the amateur. Of primary importance is the latter; the former is well taken care of. In the category of the amateur, people who love to sing and play for their own enjoyment and satisfaction are the real music lovers of the world. Unshaken by tradition and the stigma of public performance they can, at will, enjoy every minute of their experience. Therefore, behooves us in the field of education to equip those students in our charge with a complete education in the field of music.

Music is required of all elementary and junior high school pupils, and because of this we are constantly trying to give these young people the equipment they will need to become the leading citizens of tomorrow. Whereas many of them do not meet formal musical instruction upon graduation from junior high school, it is our goal to enrich their foundation with as many different and varied musical activities as possible.

The supervisor visits approximately forty-five classrooms each week. We, in Sanford, are fortunate in having twenty-five pianos at our disposal, so that every class has access to one of them. The use of rhythm band instruments, record players, and recording are available to all.

We have two functioning girls' glee clubs, one at Hamlin and one at Emerson. They unite for school functions and the music festivals. Last year at Auburn this united group received excellent comments by the judges, one notation being that they should try accapella singing (without accompaniment), which is a distinction for girls of this age group. Much credit should be given to our accompanist, Mrs. Hayden, without whose help this organization would not be the success it is.

This past year saw the origin of a boys' glee club at Hamlin. A group of about fifteen boys put in a request for a meeting once a week when they could sing and harmonize. Despite physical handicaps such as the changing voices of these adolescents and extra curriculum over-lapping such as games and practice sessions, (which is a necessity to boys of this age), this group has found satisfaction in getting together and learning more about group singing. At Christmas time they issued a request for toys, and after refinishing them, they were turned over to a local service organization for distribution. What better way of instilling the spirit of Christmas in these young people?

Last spring the Longfellow School presented the operetta, Kathleen, at the Sanford Town Hall, with a capacity audience enjoying the splendid work of both teachers and pupils. Much work went into this, and the results were very gratifying.

On November tenth, a new type of musical program was presented at the Memorial Gymnasium. The Festival of Music was a synopsis of the work being done by both the elementary and secondary music departments. It took the audience through the various stages of vocal music, beginning with the rhythm bands of the primary grades to unison singing, the rounds, and two and three part music. The elementary part of the program ended with a group of modern songs sung by the combined girls' glee clubs and augmented by the boys' glee club. The evening culminated with the combined efforts of the Sanford High School Glee Club and Band. It is said that approximately three thousand witnessed this performance, one of the largest gatherings of its kind in the gymnasium.

EDUCATION

As usual at Christmas the Lafayette School had its annual presentation with every grade unit performing. This is one of the school functions to which everyone looks forward and, as usual, it measured up to past performances. It combined music in all its forms with other school activities to provide the parents with a better insight into the function of the school in their community.

In closing, may I express my appreciation to you, Mr. Sullivan, and all other school personnel for the support and cooperation which is making it possible for us to carry out this program in music education in the Sanford Elementary Schools.

Supervisor of Elementary Music

To the Superintendent of Schools:

The basic function of the school nurse has been to serve as an interpreter between school, home and community. This interpretation was in relation to the health needs of the individual child. A program for application of these needs was developed.

The classroom has been the focal point for activities. The teachers are to be commended for their interest and assistance given the nurse. The school nursing program would not be an effective part of the curriculum without this teacher interest in the welfare of the individual child. Information obtained about a child is made available to the teacher.

A definite inter-relationship is recognized between members of a family to known physical, mental or emotional characteristics of a child. The child has been recognized as a member of the family, so information obtained in relation to our activities interpreted to the parents. Printed material explaining the nursing activities was sent to parents, acquainting them with the procedures carried on in school.

Community resources have been used in developing the program and securing assistance for an individual. This assistance has been financial aid to correct defective conditions; arrangements for clinic attendance, and arranging for consultations with specialists and doctors.

Following is a summary of specific activities.

I. Physical Examinations

Examinations were done by qualified doctors. Children examined were ones in sub-primary, fourth, seventh, and tenth grades, and new students in the school system.

Recording of examinations were made on the child's individual health record. References were sent to parents if further care was advised by the examining doctor.

Recommendations made by doctors:

Chest x-rays advised for two children.

Examination of nostrils advised for one child.

33 children recommended for a more thorough heart examination.

Urinalysis examination advised for 12 children.

11 children found to have moles which should be watched.

EDUCATION

- 3 children needed care because of hernia.
- 1 child advised to obtain care for tumor of knee.
- 8 children were overweight and needed care.
- Faulty muscle coordination noted in one child.
- 4 children found to have an orthopedic condition.
- 5 children had a variance in blood pressure.
- Ear examination advised for 2 children.
- 6 children showed signs of extreme nervousness.
- 52 children referred for further care for a throat condition.
- 5 children needed care for a skin condition.

Home visits were made, as needed, to help parents obtain corrections for the above conditions.

II. Prevention of Contagion

A copy of "Important Facts Concerning Communicable Disease" published by the State Department of Health" was given to each teacher.

Every teacher in the schools and the parents of sub-primary children were given typed copies of rules pertaining to a child's attendance at school if a contagious disease is suspected or diagnosed.

106 injections were given to sub-primary and first grade children for prevention of diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough. 84 children were vaccinated against small-pox. The health officer administered the above.

III. Tuberculosis Prevention Program

398 children were given the patch tuberculin test, 5 children had positive findings and care advised.

Arrangements were made for 36 children to have chest x-rays. These children were post-sanatorium patients or contacts to adults with tuberculosis.

Private physicians and the health officer helped in the details of this program.

There is a state law requirement that all school personnel must have chest x-rays every 2 years. A card catalogue system was devised for recording reports and dates for re-take x-rays. As requested, arrangements were made for the personnel to have their x-rays at the Goodall Hospital.

IV. Program for Conservation of Hearing

The audiometer hearing testing was done in the second through eighth grades. 38 children were found to have hearing below average. Corrective care for these children included medical attention, specialist care, and obtaining a hearing aid for one child.

V. Program for Conservation of Sight

Children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh and tenth grades had their vision examined by an optometrist. New students received this care, also. Children in the other grades were tested by teachers. Any child, found by teacher to have difficulty, was re-examined by the optometrist. 57 children were found to need a more complete examination in a specialist's office.

The vision program was assisted by the organization of a clinic for care of children with strabismus (cross-eye). A local physician is in charge of this clinic and it has proved to be of great value.

VI. Examination of Children's Feet

A local podiatrist examined the feet of children in the sub-primary, fourth, seventh, and tenth grades. The fit of the shoes worn was noted, also. This early detection of difficulty prevents serious disturbance later in life.

VII. Diabetic Detection Program

Tests to detect an increased amount of sugar in a child's body was done as part of the regular physical examinations. 419 children were tested and 8 showed presence of sugar. These children were referred for a further test and the family doctor notified.

Movies explaining diabetes were shown to the Junior High and High School age group.

Health education material on diabetes was distributed to the students having physical examinations.

VIII. Mental Health Program

Arrangements were made for 2 children to have mental evaluation tests at the Pownal State School.

Conferences were held with parents of 6 children helping them understand the behaviour and emotional development of their child. A long range program was planned with these parents for their children. At present, these children are adjusting well to daily living.

IX. Relationship with other Departments connected with the School System

The children's health records are kept in the school buildings. Teachers and special supervisors were urged to become familiar with the information on these records. By doing so, assistance is given them in executing their program.

EDUCATION

A talk on public health nursing was given to a group of High School girls in the Home Economics Class.

Movies on "Health" were suggested to the science classes.

The school nurse participated in a panel on Mental Health held at the Health Education Section meeting of the Maine State Nurses Association.

In addition to the above programs the nurse assisted in choosing the children to receive free milk and hot lunches.

First Aid Cabinets were equipped at the beginning of the year. Each teacher was given a copy of "Emergency Care for the Ill Child."

A procedure book for the School Nursing program in Sanford was begun this year. On completion of this book, a record of the current program, objectives of the work and detailed routine will be outlined.

Total number of visits made during the year:

440 visits to classrooms for consultations with teachers or in connection with the school health program.

69 home visits made to ill school children.

82 home visits made to parents for health education.

198 visits were made by individuals to the nurse's office for consultation.

In conclusion, although scientific evidence of the value of school nursing is often times lacking, improvement in habits and attitudes of children and parents is apparent. Young parents who have experienced such a program for themselves are demonstrating its value by the type care they are giving to their own children. Well children are happy children and have a better chance to grow up and become healthy adults—ones who are good parents and good citizens.

LAURA E. TABOR, R. N.

REPORT OF THE SUPERVISION OF PHYSICAL EDUCATION

To the Superintendent of Schools:

Neil V. Sullivan

Dear Sir:

May I preface my annual report of the physical education activities in the public schools of Sanford and Springvale with a short message to the parents of the boys and girls that we are working with in physical activities?

To the Parents—THAT BOY OF YOURS

He is a person who is going to carry on what you have started.

He is going to sit where you are sitting, and when you are gone, attend to those things you think are so important.

You can adopt all the policies you please, but how they will be carried out depends on him.

Even if you make leagues and treaties, he will have to manage them.

He will assume control of your cities, states, and nation.

He is going to move in, and take over your prisons, churches, schools, universities, and corporations.

All your work is going to be judged and praised or condemned by him.

Your reputation and your future are in his hands. All your work is for him, and the fate of the nations and of humanity is in his hands.

So it might be as well to pay him some attention.

With the foregoing in mind, I should like to outline my responsibilities to that boy or girl of yours:

My first responsibility as a teacher is to the pupils. Students have a right to expect that the teacher understands them. Perhaps some pupils would not put it that way—doubtless some would summarize it by terming the teacher a "right guy."

EDUCATION

In physical education, understanding of pupils involves a clear-cut picture of the 24-hour-a-day he lives. This responsibility includes a knowledge of (1) the total school program to which each child is exposed; (2) the previous training and experiences of children; (3) the homes from which the pupils come; and (4) the community activity in which pupils participate. A rather large order—understanding pupils—but an order essential to teaching success.

Volumes have been written about the decreasing respect youths have for their elders. Analysis of the reasons given for the lack of respect which present-day boys and girls are alleged to exemplify indicates that such respect is "demanded" by adults. Nowhere is there greater need for respect than in the teaching group. The physical education teacher must strive for the sort of healthy regard from youngsters which makes pleasant and profitable teaching a reality. The competent teacher knows that pupils will show respect only where it is merited and that to gain the regard of youngsters it is necessary to respect them.

As a teacher, my obligation to the administration lies in attempting to achieve agreed-upon objectives for each pupil in a school. In physical education, I must exercise all my ability to help each child improve his knowledge, skill, attitudes, and demeanor. A further obligation involves my alertness to the opportunities of utilizing other areas of school activities and content to the improvement of the teaching of physical education activities at the same time, I recognize that other teachers should use physical education in the same way.

As the supervisor of physical education I am generally held responsible for the care of the equipment and the facilities used in the public schools. It is my duty to teach all pupils that damage to facilities or equipment may deprive all groups of opportunities to engage in desirable activities. It is necessary for all to place great emphasis on respect for property and respect for the rights of others to use public equipment in physical education and recreational activities.

As a supervisor, my obligation to the Community consists of the following: Teaching every class period efficiently and conducting every activity in physical education to my maximum ability. The pupil represents the first and most important asset of this town, and the degree to which opportunities for growth are provided for the physical education pupils constitutes the measure of the success of the program.

Recreation education, a new term in the school picture, is now accepted as a major force in social well-being. Recreation has taken its place with education, health, religion, and work as an essential process molding individual personalities and creating abundant community living. All these elements in proper balance, constitute the nucleus of total social stability. Dynamic community recreation programs are woven deeply into the design of good living, while the lack of school and community recreation tends to create individual and social pathology. The needs for, the uses of, and the values derived from recreation education are constantly increasing. Patterns of wholesome school recreation shaped into effective programs and services are essentials in modern democratic society. To this end, the physical education department of the public schools has attempted to carry on this responsibility whenever facilities and equipment can be made available for a community as well as a school recreation program.

In the year just past, the physical education staff has attempted to carry on a bigger and better program of related activities in the school system. Taken in a chronological order, the following events highlighted the year's program.

Our recreation education division sponsored the Vacation Tournament for basketball teams of the greater York County area. Its great success was largely due to the fine direction given by Justin Nunan of the high school physical education staff. Once again, the Saturday morning recreation periods were well attended, and the program has now become limited only by the space available to it.

In the athletic section of the physical education program, the various leagues were carried on to a satisfactory completion. The 5th and 6th grades league was assigned the floor in the Springvale Town Hall for its practice periods and games and are showing good results of this opportunity for more basketball. The Emerson school finished in first place in the newly organized greater Sanford junior high league. Emerson also carried off the spring track tournament and trophy sponsored by the YMCA for the third time, making this a permanent possession of this school.

Baseball was once again a not too successful program due to continued inclement weather and a great lack of baseball facilities in the town. Football during the fall months was again carried on with a combined junior high squad under Coach Keefe.

Soon after the return in September it was decided to again present an outdoor Physical Education Demonstration with all public school children taking part. Nineteen events were presented to approximately one thousand parents and friends, climaxed by a mass demonstration of dancing by 175 junior high school girls. The boys' program included a demonstration of football as played by the interschool squad. The team then continued its unmarred string by defeating Spaulding for the third year.

The physical education department cooperated with the music department in its preparation and presentation of the Music Festival at the Memorial Gymnasium. Five dance groups appeared in this presentation.

Socials sponsored at both junior high schools were well attended throughout the year, with a record attendance of 314 at the May social at the gymnasium. This number included students from seven junior high schools that send their students to the Sanford High School.

The supervisor meets with all Elementary pupils weekly, twice weekly for all junior high school pupils, and a semi-yearly supervisory visit with all Primary pupils. With the addition of the Band Hall to the school department facilities, it is now possible to carry on a more satisfactory program at the Longfellow school. We were again fortunate in having the Springvale Town Hall made available by the Selectmen for the use of the Hamlin School physical education program.

Playgrounds have received quite a lot of attention this past year, with Edison, Longfellow and Lincoln Schools installing new fixed equipment. The greatest need now lies in a program of improvement for the extensive Emerson School recreation area.

With sincere appreciation to the members of the School Board, the Superintendent of Schools, the Principals, and the teachers of Sanford and Springvale for their fine cooperation in making the physical education program possible.

EDUCATION

REPORT OF THE ART SUPERVISOR

To the Superintendent of Schools:

I herewith submit to you my annual report as supervisor of art.

The primary aim of art education is to help the individual to live more fully. It tries to help him respond more sensitively to his environment, to realize his own intrinsic worth as an individual and to appreciate the contributions of all peoples to our world society. This approach is now being more completely recognized and appreciated through the activities and publications of the newly formed INSEA which is the International Society for Education Through Art, dedicated to creative art education throughout the world. The society had its inception through educational meetings of UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural organization. Through interpreters, representatives from many nations have met and found a common bond in their statement of purpose which "shall be the encouragement and advancement of creative education through arts and crafts in all countries and the promotion of international understanding". This last mentioned purpose is as all realize, most vital in this era of the cold war and it is to be hoped that much may soon be realized in the fostering of attitudes more human than that of mere peaceful coexistence. Man's inhumanity to man, as demonstrated throughout ages past must finally of necessity be replaced with democratic principles.

However, as the psychologists tell us, one must first learn to live with himself before his self respect brings the maturity necessary for his appreciation of others. What is the art program doing to help bring the children of Sanford to that necessary stage of maturity?

The function of the creative art program is that of integration, first of the personality, and second of the entire curriculum. Integration of the personality comes through meeting and solving personal problems repeatedly until one feels himself adequate to meet any situation. Art experiences that are truly creative involve the total personality. In contrast to the factual material to be mastered where there is only one possible answer, the solving of the creative art or craft problem results in the widest diversity of solutions. Emphasis is on the uniqueness of the individual's idea, and the personality development which comes through the expression of that idea. From the junior primary through all eight grades the child finds himself confronted with situations in which he must think, plan, and organize. He becomes aware of a world of order in which such words as rhythm, harmony, unity, contrast, emphasis and subordination become meaningful. Each such experience helps him gain self confidence and respect for his own judgment. The integration of art education with the total curriculum gives every opportunity for such creative activity, since art is less a body of subject matter than a developmental activity.

There are four major areas of creative expression in our elementary art program and all are interrelated since no sharp dividing line can be drawn between them. The first of these is graphic expression, under which comes lettering experiences and picture making. This area is as wide as the child's background in or out of school. It includes group projects such as murals and friezes as well as individual expression. Group projects offer a wide opportunity for social development since ideas must be shared, evaluated, grouped and organized; research must be done for necessary details such as costuming, architecture, vehicles, and utensils; space must be shared and integrated; work habits improved; social traits tempered or fostered as the case may be; and materials properly cared for.

Second is the Design Experience. This may be an individual activity such as the creation and surface decoration of objects of gift or utility value; a classroom activity as that of selecting or arranging furniture, objects of art, bulletin boards; a community activity such as observation and discussion of attractive and unattractive streets, yards, buildings; integrated activities such as posters for any subject; or a color experience where experiments are made with design elements both abstract and realistic. It gives experiences in law and order so that disorder will disturb and order or fine arrangement will give pleasure and satisfaction.

Third is the craft and construction experience which again may be a group or individual project. That child who enjoys such activities is not likely to be the vandal who takes pleasure in destruction. Among the materials which are a part of the experience are textiles, paper and cardboard, clay of a plastic nature and also self hardening clay, soap, plaster of paris, wood, metals, leather and waste materials.

Fourth is the appreciation experience, which provides opportunities for looking or contemplating, discussing, choosing, and arranging or manipulating. This includes not only art appreciation but everyday aesthetic experiences that are a part of living and also integration with all other arts such as poetry, drama and the dance; and all audio visual activities.

At the high school level, the art program is for the most part independent from the curriculum except for those students who bring outside projects to the art room for solution.

EDUCATION

The room program involves the four areas of experience mentioned in the elementary program from a more technical and professional approach, plus experiences with airbrush, silk screen and blockprinting processes. The art classes cooperate with the dramatics department, the glee club, and the prom committees and experience much in the way of painting backdrops, creating props, constructing furniture and sculpting paper for decorative purposes. Here again are countless opportunities for social growth at a higher level. The preparation of two complete stagesets and backdrops for the glee club, a backdrop for the dramatic class, paper sculpture and mobiles for the drama festival and the elaborate floral murals for the junior prom this past year evidenced the high type of social interaction of Sanford young people.

I believe that we can refer back to the high purpose of the INSEA as mentioned earlier and feel that we in Sanford are doing our part in promoting international understanding by fostering social development in our young people.

I wish to take this opportunity to express to you, Mr. Sullivan, to the superintending school committee, to Mr. Page and the elementary school principals, and all other school personnel my sincere appreciation for your continued support of the art program.

Respectfully submitted,

HAZEL M. HARRISON,

Supervisor of Art
